BRIEF CONFRONTATION — Light-hearted and well bundled against the morning cold, West Marin students hiking to Tamalpais High School in protest against paying for school busing temporarily halt the Greyhound school bus which overtook them along the way. Only two students rode the bus this morning, the rest making the seven-mile hike over Bolinas Ridge.

OVER MOUNT TAM, THROUGH VALLEY

Students March To Protest Bus Fare Hikes

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

A protest demonstration that would warm the heart of any physical education instructor — even though his pupils were late for school — wended it way over Mount Tamalpais and through the San Geronomo Valley today.

The object of the peaceful, long distance protest — close to 100 per cent effective — was a new fare system for bus transportation to and from Tamalpais and Sir Francis Drake high schools from Bolinas-Sttinson Beach and the valley.

The issue is scheduled to come before the Tamalpais High School District board at 8 p.m. today at the district offices.

Two dozen Tam High students started hiking over the mountain from Stinson Beach at dawn and arrived at school two hours late. They were joined by others along the route as parents dropped their children off. Six Drake students also were reported marching from Laguintas and had not arrived at school by 11 a.m., district school officials reported.

Both groups are protesting the new fares for Greyhound bus service which went into effect today. Students from both areas previously were given free charter service but Tam district board in October established a uniform fare policy throughout the district.

Cost of the transportation beginning today is 30 cents per one way ride or $2.50 a week. Parents in West Marin and San Geronimo Valley are protesting that the fares are too high and that some students cannot afford to pay them.

The Bolinas-Stinson Beach marchers, who followed the 6.8-mile Dipsea Trail over Mount Tam, carried signs reading: "Tam high or bust — It's too busted to bus us;" "Tam is the only truly integrated school in Marin — but you have to pay to go;" "No free bus — how about free hiking shoes?" "Marin County, 4th wealthiest in USA, can't afford to bus us;" "Lowest income in Marin — higest tax rate per capital" and "Free our buses."

Another said simply: "Stinson Beach — secede now."

The Drake contingent carried a sign reading: "We can't pay for buses."

The march "over the hill" from the shore communities was organized by Edward V. Lewis, president of the Bolinas-Stinson Beach School board with the aid of mothers in the district.

Lewis, who marched with the high school youngsters this morning, said the new bus fares were discriminatory and the Bolinas-Stinson Beach district had long ago been given a pledge that transportation would be provided free.

He said the beach towns pay the Tam district about $3,800 per student, compared to $1,600 per student in the rest of

Agnew Protestors Arrested In Nepal

Demonstrations Believed Inspired By Peking Reds

KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI) — Anti-American demonstrations believed provoked by Chinese Communists broke out today in the suburbs of Katmandu during the official visit of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew. Smaller demonstrations broke out in the city itself.

Police said 20 students were arrested in suburban Patan, three miles from the center of the city and site of the major demonstration. Another 10 students were arrested in Katmandu where the students shouted anti-American slogans in front of a U.S. library.

A UPI cameraman was beaten unconscious. Another cameraman was beaten and robbed of his watch and ring.

The demonstrations were timed to coincide with Agnew's conference with Premier Kirtikmidhi Bista. The students distributed anti-Agnew leaflets Sunday night then met today at a big rally in Patan and shouted such slogans as "Go Back Agnew!!" "Down with American Imperialism!" "Americans Withdraw from Vietnam" and "Down with King Mahendra."

Nepalese authorities said they suspected the Chinese Communists were involved because large numbers of Chinese cars were seen in the Patan streets before the rioting started. One official said, "We suspect large funds were being spent by some embassies to cook up trouble during Agnew's visit."

Agnew arrived today for an overnight visit to the Himalayan king and described the flight from Bangkok as an "exciting experience." (See Picture, page 7.)

The vice president's party made the six-hour flight from Bangkok, Thailand, in two prop-driven U.S. Air Force versions of the DC6. Runways at Tribhuvan airport are too short for the Air Force Two jet.

Police in this nation of 10 million persons yesterday jailed an undisclosed number of students who had circulated petitions protesting the Agnew visit.

The vice president, highest ranking American ever to visit this kingdom (the size of Arkansas), told welcomers he recalled as a small boy reading adventure stories about Nepal.

"I read of exciting big game hunts in the southern part of Nepal and of man's challenge of Mount Everest, which over the years has been such a formidable test of fortitude and skill," Angew said.

First Moon Paper Shocks Elite Scientific Gathering

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A Chicago scientist theorized today that the moon was a molten blob which separated into layers as it cooled very early after its creation.

Dr. J. V. Smith of the University of Chicago said that studies show the moon initially was melted enough for heavy chemicals and minerals to sink toward the lunar center. See related picture, page 2.)

He also said the gravitational pull of the earth forced some of the remaining liquids to concentrate on the near side of the moon.

Smith theorized that the lunar bulge caused by the earth's gravity forces the moon to continually keep the bulge facing the earth.

He theorized this distortion created a thin crust that was penetrated by meteors and led to the formation of the flat lunar plain, Maria.

Similar meteors hitting the far side of the moon caused only large, deep craters, Smith theorized.

Smith said mountains on the moon may have been formed by a light mineral, creating and early crust that crystalized permanently.

Smith's theorities were greeted with gasps from some of the scientists attending a lunar science conference.

His paper was among the first to be presented by the 142 principal investigators who have studied for 90 days the lunar samples brought back by the Apollo 11 astronauts.

Smith's theories made no mention of volanic activity after the molten moon had hardened.

A prominent theory on the formation of lunar features says they were created by volcanes.

Officials expect theories may tumble and lunar mysteries dissolve as the scientists present papers daily through Thursday.

About 18 pounds—a third of what astronauts Neil Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin Aldrin Jr., came back with —were distributed to the scientists Sept. 12 after a 50-day preliminary examination at the lunar receiving laboratory.

Results from the preliminary examination indicated that:

The moon material has at one time been molten rock.

—The rocks had been lying quietly on the surface of the moon for up to 150 million years, indicating that the moon may have turned cold after a fiery birth.

The rocks crystallized about four billion years ago, as early as any rocks dated on earth and about the time many believe the universe was formed.

There was no sign that life has existed on the moon.

The preliminary tests, however, did little to settle the most hotly contested debate among scientists: where the moon came from and how it got its distinctive surface features.

The two most strongly supported theories on the moon's origin are that it formed from the explosion in space of a larger body, or that it was a chunk of debris streaking through space which was captured by the earth's gravity.

Another theory, that the moon came from the earth and was blasted into orbit by an explosion millions of years ago, has been largely discounted.

Marinite Becomes Heart Recipient

A 40-year-old Strawberry man became Stanford University Hospital's 19th heart transplant recipient yesterday following a four-and-one-half hour operation performed by a team headed by Dr. Norman Shumway.

Hospital officials said Willem G. Van Buuren of 122 East Strawberry Drive was in satisfactory condition today the operation began at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Van Buuren, a builder's hardware estimator, was reported to have received the heart of Kenneth J. Gibson, 16, of San Leandro, who was fatally injured Saturday in an automobile accident.

A hospital spokesman, refused however, to confirm the report, saying only the donor was anonymous.

Van Burren, the father of three children, had his first heart attack 16 months ago, the hospital spokesman said. Since then he has suffered a series of heart atlacks caused by deteriorating heart muscle. He was accepted as a potential heart recipient in mid-December.

Van Buuren was at home Saturday with his family when the call came that a heart donor was available. His wife, Carry, has stayed at the hospital with Van Buuren, while their three children, Rober, 13; Martina, 10, and Caroline, 8, have remained at home.

Hospital officials said Van Buuren was expected to sit up in bed today, stand tomorrow and, if he follows a normal recuperation pattern, walk by the end of the week.

Although the length of the hospital stay varies from patient to patient, Van Buuren could be discharged from the hospital in three to five weeks, a hospital spokesman said.

Six other Stanford University hospital heart transplant patients — 25 per cent of all heart transplant survivors — have been discharged and are leading normal lives. However, all are required to return to the hospital twice weekly for checkups to make sure the deadly rejection process has not started.

Van Buuren was the first heart transplant patient of 1970. Shumway and his team performed their first adult heart transplant on Jan. 6, 1968.

McCarthy To Tell Future Tomorrow

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, will announce tomorrow night his decision on whether to seek reelection or — as persistently rumored — to retire after 20 years as Marin's state senator.

McCarthy will disclose his decision at "an informal gathering" of several hundred political friends at 7:30 p.m. at Peacock Gap Country Club, a decision he has refused to reveal before the meeting.

Printed invitations, billing the meeting as an occasion on "new things to come in the new year," were mailed out at the beginning of December. The senator's staff expressed surprise that news of the meeting had gone beyond those receiving invitations when the Independent-Journal asked about its purpose.

McCarthy, in an interview with the I-J on Dec. 22, said he would announce his decision in the first week of the 1970 legis-

Defeated Mine Union Candidate Is Slain

CLARKSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Joseph (Jock) Yablonski, unsuccessful candidate in the election race for the presidency of the United Mineworkers Union was found murdered, state police said today.

Officers sais they also found the body of two women believed to be his wife and daughter at their home in the heart of Pennsylvania's soft coal region.

Maj. Howard M. Jaynes, area state police commander, said Yablonski was found lying next to his bed shot once in the back of the head.

Jaynes said the bodies of the two women were found in two other bedrooms.

"There was blood scattered all around and the telephone lines were all ripped out," said Jaynes.

He said police believe the shootings occurred sometime during the night.

"The appearance of the bodies would indicate that they were murdered," said state Police Captain Joseph Snyder.

The 59-year-old Yablonski started early his challenge of the leadership of UMW President W. A. (Tony) Boyle — announcing his candidacy for the presidency of the 220,000 member United Mine Workers union on May 29.

Yablonski's father—a Polish immigrant—died in a Pennsylvania mine accident.

Yablonski himself had worked in the mines for 35 years. He was the first board member of the union to throw the gauntlet to Boyle.

"With 35 years of experience I know the types of resistance" the UMW leaders could use to retain office, Yablonski said when he announced.

He lost the election Dec. 9 by a large margin, despite a campaign that took him from coal field to coal field by rented plane.

Thermometer Takes Plunge

The thermometer plummeted into the 20s during the night, the bitter cold equalling the all-time low in at least one Marin city.

The weatherman predicted fair skies tonight and cloudy weather tomorrow, with light winds.

Novato reported 24 degrees this morning, a reading equal to that city's low record. Woodacre also reported an overnight low of 24.

Other overnight low temperatures in Marin and Southern Sonoma were: Petaluma and Terra Linda, 26 degrees; Hamilton Air Force Base, 27 degrees; Bolinas, 28; Mill Valley, 30; Ross, 32, and Sausalito and San Rafael, 34.

46 Killed In Holiday Wrecks

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The highway patrol reported today that 46 persons were killed on California roads during the New Year's holiday weekend from 6 p.m. Wednesday to midnight yesterday.

That was one more than the 45 recorded during the last four-one quarter day New Year's weekend in 1952. During the 1964 New Year's weekend, three and one-quarter days, 71 persons were killed, a record for the year's first holiday.

Kennedy On Stand As Inquest Opens

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy began describing in detail today at the long-delayed inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne in the midsummer auto accident that claimed the attractive young secretary's life.

Kennedy took the stand about two hours after the secret inquest opened, and testified for almost an hour. Then a short recess was called, after which Kennedy returned to the stand briefly. A luncheon recess followed.

Kennedy declined to discuss his testimony as he left the courthouse for lunch. But he said, "Yes," when asked whether he had testified, and, "About an hour," when asked how long.

He said he would return to the stand after lunch.

Kennedy, appearing relaxed and smiling, arrived for the inquest with his blonde wife Joan. Together they walked from a nearby house through the front door of the old brick courthouse where the inquiry is being held. Most of the other witnesses already had arrived.

"Yes, I am," Kennedy said when a newsman asked if he was glad the inquest finally had

Unruh Outlines His Tax Reform Proposals

SACRAMENTO (AP) — An election-year legislature opened today with Assembly Democratic leader Jesse M. Unruh proposing a flat limit on home owners' property taxes.

Unruh, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, made the proposal in an unusual "state of the state" message prepared for the first day of the 1970 session of the Legislature.

In doing it, he beat Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan to the punch. Reagan, expected to seek a second term, won't deliver his until tomorrow.

Unruh proposed a flat limit on property taxes levied on homes occupied by the owners.

He called for wiping out tax exemptions he says help "very wealthy individuals who pay little or no taxes at all."

And Unruh demanded elimination of what he termed "tax loopholes" for big business—the depletion allowance given oil companies and the property tax exemption granted on the home office buildings of insurance companies.

Blasting away at Reagan, Unruh said "the people of California are being shortchanged

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS . From Everywhere

Fatal Hunt Feud

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Four Lebanese hunters fired at the same bird yesterday, and each one claimed the kill.

In the ensuing argument they turned their shotguns on each other. Three were killed and one badly wounded.

Two other hunters fought over the right to hunt in a certain area. One shot the other five times, wounding him critically. The shooter was himself wounded by an unidentified bystander.

A Severe Quake

TOKYO (AP) —Seismographs in Tokyo and Hong Kong recorded a severe earthquake early today near the border between China and Burma, but Red Chinese broadcasts made no mention of it.

The Central Japanese Meteorological Agency said the quake occurred in southwest China or northeast Burma. The Royal Observatory in Hong Kong placed it about 750 miles westnorthwest of Hong Kong near the border.

The quake's magnitude was estimated in Hong Kong at between 7.5 and 8 on the Richter Scale, while the Japanese agency recorded it at 7.5.

Fires Claim 12

ST. ROCH DE L'ACHIGAN, Quebec (AP) — Twelve persons died yesterday when fire destroyed a small frame house in this Laurentian village 30 miles north of Montreal. Another fire Saturday at Lac des Iles, 140 miles northeast of Montreal, took five lives.

The victims at St. Roch included Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Proulx, their five children and two couples and a child visiting for the weekend.

Police said the victims at Lac des Iles were Dollard Gratton, 42, and five of his seven children.

Apollo Schedule

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A space agency official said yesterday that the schedule for America's next seven moon landings calls for them to be six months apart beginning in March and with none planned for 1972.

Julian Sheer, an assistant administrator of the space agency, said the schedle calls for two landings this year, in March and September, two next year, in March and during the summer, two in 1973 and one in 1974.

The Nationla Aeronautics and Space Administration plans to launch Apollo 13 in March toward a landing in a highland area of the moon called Fra Mauro.

Walk To Freedom

BONN, Germany (AP) — An East German couple and their six children walked across the frozen Elbe River and asked for political asylum in West Germany on New Year's Eve, officials said today.

The children ranged in age from 2 to 14 years. The officials said East German border guards apparently did not notice the group.

The Elbe is frozen over for the first time in seven yeats. It forms the border for a stretch of about 60 miles. The river's swift current normally is an effective deterrent to escapees, and fortifications along the eastern bank are less formidable than at other parts of the frontier.

Abandons Ship

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — The crew of a Standard Oil drilling rig operating off the coast of Malaysia abandoned ship today when the drill struck a pocket of gas and water flooded over the rig, a company spokesman said.

He said the crew left deck hatches open and water had seeped in, but the extent of the damage could not be determined until the rig was examined.

The 71 crewmen from the Discovery II took to lifeboats and made their way to the Esso supply ship Smith-Lloyd. The only casualty was a man who "swallowed too much water," the spokesman said, and the Malaysian Air Force flew out a doctor by helicopter to treat him.

Fog Control Works

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet scientitst have devised a fog-control process that has shown initial success in experiments in a fogbound harbor, Tass reported today.

The Soviet news agency said a filmy liquid was spread on Kola Gulf, near the northern city of Murmansk, and water evaporation was reduced by 50 to 60 per cent.

The film this cut down fog significantly, Tass said.

The chemical makeup of the film was not revealed, but Tass claimed it is harmless and does not pollute the water.

South Viet's Senate Lays Blame On U.S. For Alleged Massacre

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese Senate approved a resolution tonight stating that a "regrettable incident happened" at My Lai and called it "the single act of a U.S. unit."

The Senate demanded that President Nguyen Van Thieu take steps to safeguard the lives of South Vietnamese civilians.

Earlier a Senate investigating committee had reported it found U.S. troops had massacred civilians. However, the Senate resolution, adopted after nearly eight hours of debate, does not use the word massacre.

Twenty-five out of the 29 senators present voted to approve a measure that said a "regrettable incident happened, causing fatalities and damaging the properties of civilians and is the single act of a U.S. unit."

The Senate's action was a rebuke of President Thieu, who ordered an investigation into the My Lai affair only after reports of it were published in the United States.

The Senate resolution in effect, rejected the government's Nov. 22 report that no such massacre occurred at the coastal hamlet on March 16, 1968.

The Senate also demanded that Thieu take steps to safeguard "the lives and property of the people, especially those in contested areas."

The Senate also demanded that Thieu "take the initiative in the conduct of the war" by "unifying the commands between the South Vietnamese armed forces and the allies."

An earlier resolution of Sen. Tran Van Don, sponsored by the Senate's Defense Committee after a joint legislative group inspected the area, twice called the incident a massacre.

This resolution said Thieu "must bear the entire responsibility." It charged that Thieu made only a cursory investigation and failed to make certain that his subordinates clearly understood "national policy" on the conduct of the war.

By this, the report apparently referred to a need for closer cooperation between prvince chiefs and allied military forces operating in the field.

Thieu's government has maintained since last November that no massacre by U.S. troops took place in My Lai, although the U.S. Army has filed charges against two soldiers.

Oil Depletion Fight Expense Is Under Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major oil company's expenses in fighting the recently enacted tax reform bill have come under scrutiny of the Internal Revenue Service.

The IRS action results from a complaint by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who contended Shell Oil Co. forced its employees to attend "brain-washing" sessions giving the company's view of oil depletion and oil imports.

Proxmire said he expected Shell would try to deduct the cost of the sessions—which he termed lobbying—as business expenses. He said this clearly would be in violation of tax codes.

IRS STATEMENT

In a letter made public by Proxmire, the Internal Revenue service wrote him:

"The facts ... are not sufficiently detailed to form the basis of any firm conclusion on the matter. However, we agree with you that if these activities do in fact constitute lobbying within the meaning of the applicable statute, the fact that the lobbying is directed to employees would not convert it to a deductible expenditure."

The IRS added that the complaint requires a finding of fact and the matter is being referred to the district director having jurisdiction over Shell.

In his complaint to IRS, Proxmire made no estimate of the company's expenses.

When asked for comment, a Shell executive referred to a statement issued by the company when Proxmire made the complaint in October. The company responded then:

"Because of the present number of issues of extraordinary importance which could substantially affect the oil business, and the people who work in it, we felt it desirable to acquaint our employees with our views on these issues. We believe that we have a right and, indeed, a duty to do so."

NOW LAW

The tax reform bill, signed into law last Tuesday by President Richard M. Nixon, included numerous provisions which the oil industry vigorously opposed.

It lowered the mineral depletion allowance from 27½ to 22 per cent, applied a new 10 per cent income tax to otherwise sheltered earnings and knocked out other tax benefits by holding production payments to be loans instead of income.

Proxmire has also complained to IRS about the activities of seven other oil companies against the new tax bill.

These companies—whose officials, Proxmire said, contacted employees or stockholders suggesting they write friends and congressmen—are Texaco, Cities Service, Phillips Petroleum, Mobil Oil, Sun Oil, Conoco and Standard Oil of California.

McCarthy Will Tell His Plans Tomorrow

lative session — which coincides with tomorrow night's meeting.

McCarthy enjoyed considerable power in the upper house for many years, and servied as its Republican leader until junior senators began to break up the seniority system two years ago.

As third man doen from the top in the old seniority system, McCarthy was part of the bipartisan "old guard" that ran the Senate. But all that changed last year with the election of Sen. Howard Way, R-Executer, as Senate president pro tem.

Way displaced Sen. Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, who also is expected to retire after this year, after 34 years in the legislature.

McCarthy, 45, was the youngest senator in California history when first elected in 1950. Since then, he has been reelected by large margins, and has been considered a strong candidate for reelection this year.

A decision to leave the Senate would have statewide significance because Republicans hold only a 21-19 edge in the upper house. The party that controls the 1971 legislature will have the upper hand in determining the political complexion of all state legislative and congressional districts for the rest of the decade.

Redistricting of the state will follow the 1970 census, with the new lines drawn by the 1971 Legislature.

McCarthy's Fourth Senatorial District, which also includes Napa and Solano counties, has a majority of Democrats, although in Marin the Republicans have a majority.

Former Marin Supervisor Peter H. Behr is expected to seek McCarhty's seat regardless of whether McCarthy runs again, and has indicated he will make his entry into the GOP primary official within two weeks.

Former Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen never has made a secret of his ambition to run if McCarhy did not, and told the Independent-Journal today he would give a race "strong consideration" if McCarthy did not run.

Also mentioned as a probable candidate for the GOP mominations was Raymond H. Shone of Nicasio, an attorney and one of McCarthy's original supporters.

Kettenhofen received an invitation to tomorrow night's McCarthy affair. Behr did not.

Hershey Thinks Test Case Will Be Dismissed

BOSTON (AP) — Outgoing Selective Service Director Gen. Lewis B. Hershey says he would not be surprised if a case in a federal court challenging the draft lottery is dismissed.

"There has been a lot of talk by scientists that the draft drawing was not as random as it could have been," Hershey said. "But it's the kind of talk the weatherman makes after the weather does not work out the way he said it should have."

Hershey made the remarks in a telephone interview with the Boston Herald Traveler last night.

Judge James Doyle of U.S. District Court in Madison, Wis., has said he sees a substantial discrepancy between the random selection ordered by President Richard M. Nixon and the actual result of the Dec. 1 lottery drawing.

He has said a new lottery drawing may be necessary because the first drawing may not have been random enough.

If the Antarctic ice cap melted at a uniform rate, it would produce about 6.5 million cubic miles of water, enough to feed the Mississippi River for more than 50,000 years.

Desegregation Is Peaceful In 11 Mississippi Schools

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Eleven Mississippi school districts opened their doors under federal court desegregation orders without incident today in what one white school principal called "a history-making situation."

Federal marshals looked on as Negro pupils entered schools which once were predominantly white, and white pupils went to classes in formerly all-Negro schools. There were no incidents reported as classes resumed after Christmas vacation.

The U.S. Supreme Court had ordered total desegregation in 30 Mississippi districts to take effect after Dec. 31, 1969, but most of the districts planned to open schools later in the week.

In southern Mississippi at Columbia, some 180 Negroes from an all-Negro high school were transferred to predominantly white Columbia High School. The merged enrollment was about one-third Negro.

Eight white teen-age pickets appeared outside the school. The white and Negro student body presidents called for unity.

B.J. Oswalt, principal of Columbia High School, said attendance today was near normal.

"If everybody could just see everybody else as a human being it might just turn out all right," Tommy Barber, the white student body president, told a school assembly. "Be a big surprise to everybody."

Archie Johnson, the Negro student body leader, told the assembly:

"There is no conflict between old and new. It is a conflict between false and true. We can become a lighthouse in Marion County. Let it be said we, the students of our community, are trying to improve our conditions."

More than 200 schools with a total enrollment of about 135,000 are effected by the court order.

State, civil and religious leaders appealed over the weekend for calm and reason as some 50 additional U.S. Marshals moved into the state to monitor compliance with the court mandate.

Gov. John Bell Williams asked for nonviolence and patience in an address on television and radio.

Williams, however, told citizens it was still their decision whether to send their children to public or private schools, or keep them home.

"With God's help," the governor said, "let us make the best of a bad situation."

begun. The senator had flown in by private plane a half-hour earlier from his home in Hyannis Port on Cape Cod.

Escorting the couple was William Barry, a New York banking security expert who served as a body guard to the late Robert F. Kennedy, during the 1968 presidential campaign.

The first key figure to arrive was Edgartown Dist. Judge James A. Boyle, who showed up at the courthouse more than two hours before the scheduled opening of the inquiry.

In the next couple of hours, attorneys for the parties in the case showed up in separate groups.

Dist. Atty. Edmund S. Dinis of New Bedford, who requested the inquiry, arrived with a retinue of three aides; and the five other men and five young women who attended a cookout preceding the accident arrived separately.

Only Kennedy responded to the inquiries of about 60 newsmen who had been stamping their feet to keep warm in the sub-freezing air.

Testifying about the cookout and its aftermath of July 18 will be the five girls, veterans like Miss Kopechne of Robert Kennedy's campaign, and the five men besides Kennedy who attended the party with them.

MARCH

the district. "We think for the difference, they (the district) could pay to get the kids to school," he said.

Lewis also expressed concern that the fares would lead more students to hitchhike to and from school, adding: "That's not good with some of the kooks who come through here." He also said encouraging high school students to drive over the hazardous mountainous road to Mill Valley is "a lousy way to save money."

A "confrontation" came soon after the march from Stinson Beach started at 7:30 a.m. It occurred when the Greyhound bus — carrying only a couple of students, according to Independent-Journal photographer Bob Hax — came up behind the demonstrators on Panoramic Highway.

Hax reported that the youngsters blocked the bus' path momentarily, then allowed it to pass. Passing motorists waved and flashed peace signs to the marchers as they began their trek and several parents, supporting the bus boycott by taking their youngsters to school, dropped them off at the march instead.

Demonstrators in San Geronimo Valley said only two Drake students rode the bus from the valley this morning. School officials said they didn't know how many youngsters rode buses from either area.

Lewis said he didn't know if the walk over the hill would be repeated but he indicated the boycott would continue unless something is worked out at the board meeting tonight.

Edward J. Neumeier, administrative assistant to the Tam superintendent, said any disciplinary action for tardiness would be up to the administrators at Tam and Drake. He added, however, that he anticipated no disciplinary action.

The new fares, meanwhile, drew fire from another quarter. The Bolinas Improvement Club Saturday night strongly protested the fares, publicity chairman Alice Silva reported today. She said there is some sentiment among Bolinas residents to boycott school completely until the fares are eliminated.

Sonoma State Fills Fall Quota

Sonoma State College has filled its quota for applications for the fall semester.

Harold J. Soeters, dean of admissions, said that 2,142 applications — sent by mail or filled out in person — had been received by 10 a.m. today. The quota is 2,100.

Soeters said a limited numbers of applications would still be taken for graduate students and upper division transfers. These will be reviewed to determine whether specific study areas can accommodate more students.

Soeters said 1,160 students will actually be registered for the fall semester and that total enrollment should reach 3,700.

Beer Can Brings Arrest For Youth

An 18-year-old Mill Valley youth was arrested Saturday by Mill Valley police on suspicion of alcohol and marijuana possession after police officers allegedly saw him carrying an open beer can on Miller Avenue at La Goma Street.

David Paul Underhill of 110 Evergreen Avenue was released from Marin County Jail on his own recognizance to appear Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Police said officers found the marijuana in Underhill's pockets during a routine search following his 11:05 a.m. arrest.

the valleys, is an eternal symbol of the strength and traditions of Nepal. It is easy to understand why my visit to your beautiful country is an exciting experience more than a formal ceremony."

The vice president was given a 19-gun salute on his arrival. U.S. Ambassador Carol Laise introduced him to Prime Minister Kirtindihi Bista and other ranking officials.

Agnew's schedule called for talks later in the day with Bista and King Mahendra. He was accompanied by astronaut Thomas Stafford, commander of the Apollo 10 mission.

Although nonaligned, Nepal receives aid from both the Soviet Union and Communist China as well as the United States.

Nepal was the fifth stop on Agnew's 11-nation Asian goodwill tour. He already has visited the Philippines, South Vietnam, Taiwan and Thailand. He flies tomorrow to Kabul, Afghanistan.

Agnew used his 42-hour visit to Bangkok to reassure Thai officials the United States will not renege on its Southeast Asia treaty commitments to Thailand and other Asian nations.

Meanwhile it was reported in Kabul, American Peace Corps volunteers plan to protest American involvement in Vietnam and wear black arm bands during the two-day visit of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew starting tomorrow, Peace Corps officials said today.

The volunteers said in a statement they wanted to "show our disapproval of recent American policy in Vietnam: to ask the vice president to reexamine our country's priorities domestically and in foreign affairs; to reaffirm to our host country's nationals that protest and demonstration are the inalienable liberties of Americans and that our status as Peace Corps volunteers does not compromise these rights—that is, we are not tools of American foreign policy and that we are grieved at our country's immoral stand in Vietnam."

According to the volunteers, American Ambassador Robert G. Neumann refused to send Agnew a telegram asking him to meet the volunteers here, but promised to mention their request.

Park Improvements Will Be Discussed

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission will plan park improvements for the next fiscal year when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the community house.

The commission also will elect new officers for the coming year, hear a progress report on development of Pioneer Memorial Park and receive the director's monthly report.

by a do-nothing administration which sits idly by while the quality of the lives we lead deteriorate at an accelerating rate."

Striking at the key conservation issue, Unruh called for legislation halting all oil drilling on state controlled lands in the Santa Barbara Channel, site of a continuing oil leak.

He also proposed a state Conservation Authority with the power to reject any state, local or private project likely to damage the environment.

Unruh's message provided a lively opening for a session that might stretch into the summer. The 1970 elections for governor and legislative offices are expected to heat up the debates on the two biggest issues of the year—tax relief and conservation.

Incumbent leadership was in command as the session opened. Senate President pro tem Howard Way, R-Exeter, and Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, had no opposition and an attempt to dump Unruh failed to gain much support.

Assemblyman John Briggs, R-Fullerton, dropped his plan to try to unseat veteran Don Mulford of Piedmont as chairman of the Assembly Republican caucus.

Republicans held narrow commands in both houses—41-39 in the Assembly and 21-19 in the Senate.

In his message, Unruh ranged over practically every concern of state government and concluded that the state of the state was generally bad.

The 3-year-old Reagan administration, he said, has been "characterized more by apathy and ineptitude than by courage and imagination."

Among Unruh's proposals:

Education — Write into state law a requirement that every qualified student be admitted to the University of California or a state college. Launch an experimental program where special private instructors take over the teaching of some of public school students to improve their education.

Crime — Pour "many more millions" of state tax dollars" into programs to improve training of local police.

Consumers — Give the insurance commissioner power to deny excessive insurance rate increases for motorists and homeowners. "In most states, the insurance commissioner has precisely this power," Unruh said. "It is past time for California to join their ranks."

Conflict of interest—Strengthen the state's conflict of interest law that Unruh introduced last year.

Economy—Take steps to prepare for a possible recession by establishing a council of economic advisors to the governor.

Unruh pledged full suppport to Reagan's program that "are in the best interests of the people."

But he accused the governor of failing to protect Santa Barbara residents from the ill effects of oil drilling, of not improving public school education, of refusing to protect the consumers from utility rate increases, and of not helping local police fight crime.

Driver's Nose Broken In Crash

A San Anselmo man suffered a broken nose when his car struck a parked auto and a wooden yard fence Saturday evening along Oak Manor Drive, north of Fairfax.

California Highway Patrol officers reported that the driver, Marc Robert Buck, 23, of 50 Cypress Road, was cited for misdemeanor drunken driving.

Bruck's car, traveling south on a downgrade, struck a parked car owned by William Wilson Jr. of 408 Oak Manor Road, then a fence and halted on Wilson's lawn at 6:55 p.m., officers said.

Buck was treated at Marin General Hospital.

$50 In Cash Stolen From Dress Shop

About $50 in cash was stolen Wednesday night from Sally's Attic, 633 Del Ganada Road, Terra Linda, by a thief who smashed two plate glass windows in the dress shop and scattered clothing in a nearby alley.

No estimate of damages was available, according to sheriff's deputies.

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids
Stops Itch—Relieves Pain
Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain.

In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other formula for hemorrhoids like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

OVER THE BORDER

Divorcee Harbors Draft Resisters

WINDSOR, Ont. (UPI)—A 54 year-old divorcee says she has been harboring American draft resisters in her three-bedroom home in this Canadian border city since Dec. 1.

Mrs. Jean Dearing, the mother of two married sons, says her guests usually stay for one or two days before heading for Toronto and other parts of Canada.

"If I can save the life of one American boy, I feel I have done something worthwhile," she says.

Mrs. Dearing, who wears a ring she claims two Viet Cong representatives gave her in February, says she does not try to persuade youths to desert or dodge the draft.

"When they come to me, they've already considered all the options," she said.

Mrs. Dearing also provides the young Americans with instructions on applying for landed immigrant status and intends to open a job placement service in downtown Windsor this month.

Her weekly alimony payments of $55 are too meager to support such a venture, she said, but she expects donations from Windsor residents. Mrs. Dearing said some have already pledged to make available 100 beds for the draft resisters.

"The only static I've been getting locally is from people who believe Canadians will lose jobs to the Americans," she said.

Windsor is directly across the Detroit River from Detroit.

Students Hijack 30 Ankara Buses

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — More than 30 city buses were hijacked by students of Ankara University here today in protest against cancellation of reduced-fare permits.

The buses, operated by the city of Ankara, were stopped in various sections of town by hundreds of students and the passengers were ordered to get out. Then the buses were parked at the university campus and at other locations around the city.

City traffic was paralyzed for four hours until the students released the buses after a scuffle with police. Police said seven policemen were injured and 34 students taken into custody.

Transit District Decision Slated

The Marin County Transit District board will meet at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow to decide whether it should grant a subsidy to a Marin City company to start a shuttle bus service for the Tiburon Ferry.

The meeting will be held in the board of supervisors chambers at the Civic Center.

On Dec. 16, the transit district directors voted 4-to-3 to have Gen. Mgr. Seymour Kashin draw up a contract with Marin County Transit Systems, Inc. for a three-month subsidy not to exceed $10,000. Six votes are necessary to authorize the expenditure, however, according to County Counsel Douglas S. Maloney.

Another item on the agenda is Greyhound Linds' application to the California Public Utilities Commission to increase Marin County commuter fares.

Santa Rosan Faces Credit Card Charge

William Conrad, 36, of Santa Rosa, was booked into Marin County Jail Saturday on suspicion of forgery of a credit card, theft of a credit card, and receiving stolen property.

Conrad, who was arrested by San Rafael police, was held in lieu of $1,475 bail, to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Slayer Maine Still Missing; Cold May Make Him Give Up

TRACY, Calif. (AP) — The disappearance of convicted rapist-murderer Leonard Maine remained a mystery today to prison authorities who speculated, "The cold weather may get him if he's hiding outside."

Maine disappeared last Wednesday from the Deuel Vocational Institution where he had been serving a sentence of 10 years to life on conviction of second-degree murder in the slaying of a Ukiah attorney's son and the attempted murder and rape of the victim's girl friend.

"He may very possibly still be inside the prison," one official said last night.

Nighttime temperatures have been below freezing in the area.

Maine, 19, failed to show up for a head count Wednesday after leaving his job at the prison's dental office.

He was convicted along with Thomas Braun in the 1967 slaying of Timothy Luce and the assault of Susan Bartolomei. Braun was convicted of first-degree murder and is on San Quentin's Death Row.

Antibussing Drive Chairman Named

John Winters has been designated as Marin County chairman for the Wakefield Amendment to prohibit busing of school children for integration without written consent of their parents.

The supplementary period for obtaining signatures will end Jan. 30. Petitions may be obtained from Winters at 195 Marina Vista, Larkspur.

Refugee Says Cubans Have Money, But Nothing To Buy

MIAMI (AP) — The first Cuban refugee to reach the United States in the new year says the people of his homeland have plenty of money in their pockets — because there's nothing to spend it on in the island's Communist society.

"Everybody in Cuba has more money than they can spend," Perfecto Cuervo Fernandez said yesterday.

The 30-year-old bachelor school teacher said he was disillusioned with the Fidel Castro revolution and that a dispute over teaching methods had resulted in his banishment to the sugar cane fields.

"I had a problem with officials of the Ministry of Education," Cuervo said. "It was about the methods of work—the work of education.

"They put me to work in the fields, chopping and cutting, as punishment. I wasn't used to it and it's the hardest work. We worked 11 or 12 hours instead of 8," he said.

SECOND NEW YEAR'S BABY FOR FAMILY

The Allen F. Schafer family of Terra Linda has hit on an unusual and unplanned New Year's celebration.

On Jan. 1, 1968, Mrs. Schafer, the former Linda L. Williams, gave birth to a daughter, Tracy Lin.

On Jan. 1, 1970, the couple's second child, Teresa Ann, arrived.

Mrs. Schafer, of 760 Monticello Road, said neither baby was expected on New Year's Day and both arrived too late to be the first of their respective new year.

Slain Pair Identified As Muslims

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Police said today two Negroes identified by a companion as Black Muslim commandos were shot to death during a chase here last night after a fire was set off at a downtown radio station and piano store.

The unidentified men were found fatally wounded in a fleeing car when police caught up with them. Two others in the car were arrested and charged with arson.

Asst. Police Chief E. P. Brown said one of the men arrested identified himself as a member of a Black Muslim commando faction. Chief Drue H. Lackey said the other one taken into custody told officers all four in the car belonged to the Muslim group.

Lackey said two white patrolmen saw the fire being started, and a Negro officer joined in the pursuit and assisted in the arrests.

Morgenthau Selected Lindsay Deputy Mayor

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John Lindsay today appointed Robert M. Morgenthau, who resigned Dec. 22 as U.S. attorney here under White House pressure, a deputy mayor of New York.

Lindsay, a Republican, had joined with the state's two Republican senators in urging that Morgenthau be retained in the U.S. attorney's post. Morgenthau, a Democrat, had refused for nearly a year to offer his resignation when the new administration took power last year.

Morgenthau, son of the late Henry Morganthau, Treasury secretary under President Franklin D. Roosevelt, made his resignation as a federal prosecutor effective Jan. 15.

Morgenthau, 50, becomes New York's third deputy mayor in a post created especially for him by Lindsay. The other two are Richard Aurelio, Lindsay's campaign manager, and Timothy Costello, a Liberal Party official, who also has the title of city administrator.

Although Lindsay is a registered Republican—and, in fact, put the name of Spiro T. Agnew in nomination for the vice presidency in 1968—he lost the GOP nomination for reelection and won on the Liberal ticket.

Morgenthau's resignation came five days after the Republican administration of President Richard M. Nixon announced he was being replaced by Whitney North Seymour Jr., in the attorney's job. Seymour is a Republican.

The Dec. 17 White House announcement touched off a political storm in New York with Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Charles E. Goodell joining Lindsay in deploring the move against Morgenthau. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller also expressed regret over the action.

Morgenthau joined Lindsay at the City Hall news conference where his new appointment was announced. The post pays $42,500.

Lindsay said Morgenthau will be responsible for all intergovernmental activities in the mayor's administration.

In addition, because of his background in law enforcement, he will serve as Lindsay's key adviser on crime and corruption.

When Morgenthau announced his resignation as U.S. attorney for the Southern District of New York he said, "unfortunately, Wednesday's White House ultimatum that I resign or be fired already has had dramatic impact on the willingness of individuals to come forward with vital evidence."

The Democrat was appointed to the most prestigious of the 93 regional federal attorneyships by the late President John F. Kenned in 1961.

In Good Condition

James Keliser, 25, of 10 Hotaling Court, Ross, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a broken ankle suffered in a motorcycle accident at 9:45 p.m. Saturday on Wolfe Grade, San Rafael. Police said Kleiser apparently missed a curve and hit a bank on the hill.

Bolinas Club Wanting Spring Street Opened

Hazardous and closed roads, dog packs and illegal parking, garbage dumping and school bus fares were targets of gripes from members of the Bolinas Improvement Club at its meeting Saturday night, publicity chairman Alice Silva reported today.

She said members urged the Marin County Public Works Department and supervisors to open Spring Street, running about a mile from downtown to the mesa, to serve as an alternate to Terrace Avenue. Residents feel Terrace Avenue is hazardous because of pedestrians and other factors, and also feel it eventually will bave to be closed because of erosion of the cliffs, Mrs. Silva reported.

The club also expressed concern about slides on Ocean Parkway, she reported, and will ask the county to reopen the road where it has been closed by a permanent barrier south of Agate Beach.

A letter from Supervisor Louis H. Baar was read to the meeting in which he promised increased animal control activities to cut down on the shore community's roaming dog packs, she said.

In other action, the club protested institution of bus fares for transporting Bolinas and Stinson Beach high school students to Tamalpais High School; appointed a committee to investigate illegal garbage dumping and other illegal activities, and conferred with the Bolinas constable on how to crack down on illegal parking.

The club also discussed merging with Bolinas Community Inc. and will vote on the merger after a committee report next month, Mrs. Silva said.

Cash Box Change

A burglar who entered through a hole in the roof stole $40 to $50 in change from the cash box at Parkside Market, 12 Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera police reported today. The burglary took place between 1 p.m. yesterday and 6:30 a.m. today, owner Mario Schenone told police.

Banducci Closes The Hungry I

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The famed Hungry I has died because of television and a "generation that doesn't laugh," says owner Enrico Banducci.

Because of poor business, Banducci, 47, closed the doors at midnight Saturday on one of the nation's entertainment landmarks. He had been running the night club since 1951.

It was the second well known San Francisco club to close within a week. After a New Year's Eve finale, Agostino Giiutoli, Bimbo's 365 Theater Restaurant, shut down in North Beach.

"I just couldn't handle it any longer," Banducci said yesterday in an interview. "Television killed us. Who's going to pay $15 to see an act in my place when they can watch it for free at home?"

Citizens To Ask School Tax Hike

The citizens finance committee of the Novato Unified School District board will recommend to the board tonight that it ask voters to approve an increase of 85 cents per $100 of assessed valuation in the district tax rate.

The district is faced with cutting back its educational program as an alternative to a tax increase election. An increase would raise the total tax rate in the district from $5.33 to $6.13.

If the trustees, meeting at 8 p.m. in the school's administration building, accept the recommendation of the committee, it will set a date for the election.

Other items to come before the board include a request from the Novato recreation department for use of school buses to go to winter sports areas, team-teaching at Hamilton Elementary School and an antitrust settlement with book publishers.

U.S. Command In Saigon Puts Lid On Censor Case

SAIGON (AP) — Two GI newscasters relieved of their duties for accusing the U.S. Command of censorship said today they have been ordered not to discuss the case publicly.

"I have been given a direct order by Col. Robert Cook, the inspector general (of the U.S. Command), not to discuss any aspect of this case until the investigation is completed," said S/5 Robert Lawrence, 27, of Atlanta, Ga.

The other broadcaster for the armed forces network, Marine Cp/1 Thomas M. Sinkovitz, 21, of Harrisburg, Pa., said he also had been told not to discuss the investigation.

ROBERT LAWRENCE
Gets direct order

THOMAS M. SINKOVITZ
Told the same thing

IS MUZZLED

Lawrence was muzzled after telling newsmen in detail about being questioned yesterday and his objections because he was not allowed a lawyer.

Today a military lawyer was with him when he was questioned.

Sinkovitz said he had received legal advice during his interrogation but had not retained an attorney.

Lawrence made the censorship charge at the end of his regular 11 p.m. newscast Saturday night on the armed forces network. He claimed that the network's broadcasters were "not free to tell the truth."

Sinkovitz followed Lawrence with a sports report and in a preliminary remark said: "Thank you, Bob, in more ways than one." He told newsmen later that he meant the remark as a "complete endorsement" of Lawrence's statements.

Both men were relieved of their duties.

PROBE OPENED

The U.S. Command said it was investigating Lawrence's broadcast "to decide if there was any violation of a military regulation." It said it would have no comment on the newscaster's charge until the investigation was completed.

Lawrence said in a statement that he and eight other members of the news staff had signed a letter asking the network for a clear definition of censorship policy. He said the request "was totally ignored," but of the nine he was the only one still assigned to the network news department.

He also charged that "significant network news reports concerning the Vietnamese government, a local peace demonstration and black market activities in Saigon recently were banned" from the network. He said he had also been told he could not select film for the war portions of his telecasts because his choices were unfavorable to the South Vietnamese government.

GENEVA (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau of Canada arrived in Geneva today for a ski vacation in the nearby French Alps.

Thais Will Fly Own Viet Support Copters

SAIGON (AP) — Pilots in Thailand's forces in Vietnam will fly combat missions in helicopters with U.S. crews in support of Thai ground forces, the U.S. Command announced today.

It said an agreement was signed yesterday at Bear Cat, 20 miles east of Saigon, between Maj. Gen. Allen M. Burdett Jr., commander of the U.S. First Aviation Brigade, and Maj. Gen. Swasdi Makkaroon, commander of the Royal Thai volunteer forces in South Vietnam.

"The agreement will allow Thai pilots to obtain experience and gain proficiency in combat operations," the U.S. Command said. "At first, the operations involved the combined participation of both countries will be limited to the 1st Brigade's 240th and 195th aviation companies."

A spokesman for Burdett said the Thai pilots "never had real combat experience with helicopters, although they've been trained to fly them, some of them in the United States."

He said the Thai aviators would act as copilots and would fly only troop-carrying helicopters and command and control ships rather than helicopter gunships.

Asked if the purpose of the training was to give the Thais combat experience to improve their performance against insurgents in Thailand, the spokesman replied: "The whole reason is to maintain their proficiency and give them combat experience in the field. It is more or less a continuation of their training."

The spokesman said that fewer than 20 Thai pilots are participating in the new program.

CONG DECLARE TET HOLIDAY CEASE-FIRE

HONG KONG (AP) — The Viet Cong today announced a four-day cease-fire for the Tet festival of the lunar new year, from 7 a.m. Feb. 5 to 7 a.m. Feb. 9—6 p.m. EST Feb. 4 to 6 p.m. Feb 8.

There has been no indication yet from the Saigon government of its plans for Tet.

Last year the Viet Cong proclaimed a week's cease-fire, but the Saigon government ordered only a 24-hour standdown because the Viet Cong had shattered its own cease-fire in 1967 with the biggest enemy offensive of the war. After the cease-fire last year, U.S. spokesmen said there had been no appreciable drop in enemy activity during the week.

Novato Paintings

Paintings by Novato artist Herta Rothschild will be displayed throughout January and February at the Marin Country Club in Novato.

A native of Vienna, Austria, Mrs. Rothschild studied at the Academy of Fine Arts there. Since moving to the Bay Area in 1960, she has exhibited her paintings at many places.

U.S., Saigon Units Counter Enemy In Northern Provinces Skirmishes

SAIGON (AP) — Government infantrymen and U.S. Marines operating in South Vietnam's northern provinces clashed with enemy troops twice yesterday following a flurry of enemy attacks in the area Saturday night. South Vietnamese troops fought a third battle in the Mekong Delta.

The U.S. Command reported that Marines and enemy troops exchanged rifle and machinegun fire 24 miles south of Da Nang. One Marine was killed and five wounded in the brief fight, and enemy losses were unknown.

South Vietnamese communiques claimed 17 North Vietnamese soldiers were killed by the government's highly rated First Infantry Division in a battle about five miles below the demilitarized zone.

Eighteen Viet Cong were reported killed by government troops in scattered fighting along the banks of the Mekong River 80 miles southwest of Saigon.

Field reports said two government soldiers were killed and 41 wounded in the two battles.

The U.S. Command reported 10 enemy rocket and mortar attacks during the night, but said only four of them caused casualties or damage.

Three South Vietnamese civilians were killed and seven wounded when three mortar shells fell into the market place of Ben Cat, about 25 miles north of Saigon.

Military spokesmen said 26 allied troops and civilians were killed and another 103 wounded in more than a score of rocket, mortar and ground attacks Saturday night and yesterday morning.

The U.S. Command reported "a significant increase in enemy activity" in the northern province of Quang Nam, where half the attacks took place. Quang Nam includes Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city.

Communiques reported seven U.S. troops dead and 25 wounded. Eighteen South Vietnamese civilians and one government soldier were killed and 78 civilians wounded. Almost all the civilian victims lived in two refugee camps shelled by the enemy, spokesmen said.

The U.S. Command also reported that North Vietnamese small arms fire hit an American reconnaissance helicopter over the southern half of the demilitarized zone and wounded one crewman, but the helicopter got back to its base. It was the 22nd American aircraft hit over the DMZ since the U.S. bombing halt 14 months ago.

"The exact enemy firing position was not sighted and there was no return fire," the U.S. Command said.

The United States had 474,400 troops in South Vietnam on Jan. 1, according to the U.S. Command, a drop of 900 from the last week of 1969.

The authorized strength ceiling is now 484,000, after two troop withdrawals totalling 60,000 men. President Nixon has ordered another reduction of 50,000 men by April 15, but the new withdrawal has not started.

San Jose Buses Will Run Again

SAN JOSE (AP) — Commuters in San Jose can ride buses again tomorrow, now that a six weeks strike against National City Lines is over.

Saturday's settlement will give the 90 drivers and mechanics of Local 265 of the Amalgamated Transit Workers an average increase of 25 cents an hour over the previous average of $3.21 an hour.

A city offer to underwrite losses by the company up to $25,000 for the next six months helped to produce the settlement.

When the strike began Nov. 24, a company spokesman said National City Lines was losing $2,000 a month and could not afford pay increases.

Reagan To Tackle Tax Reform In Talk

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Tax reform and protection of California's resources are expected to be the main points of Gov. Ronald Reagan's annual message to the California Legislature tomorrow.

The 11 am.. address to a joint session of the Legislature will be color telecast live from the newly redecorated Assembly chamber in the century-old capitol

Since his inauguration — Jan. 5, 1967 — restraint in state spending and a hold-the-line policy on government programs have been keystones of the Republican governor's policy.

"We will put our fiscal house in order," Reagan said in his inaugural address.

His office is preparing a major new tax reform program with the help of GOP leaders in both houses of the Legislature.

This cooperative strategy might produce a compromise package that the governor and legislature can agree on this election year.

Reagan is expected to announce in March his candidacy for a second term and the seats of all 80 assemblymen and 20 of the 40 senators are up for election this year.

Reagan's political foes labeled him an enemy of conservation during the 1966 campaign. The governor has paid increasing attention to the subject in his state of the state messages, and conservationists applauded him last May when he rejected a proposed dam that would have flooded Round Valley in Mendocino County.

The administration is prepared to back a number of the environmental quality bills that are expected to be introduced this year, Norman B. Livermore, the governor's resources secretary, said last week.

Reagan has already called for a new antismog effort financed in part by gasoline taxes.

Over the past three years tax reform has been the most elusive goal.

In 1967, he appointed a special citizens tax reform advisory group, but some of its recommendations submitted in early 1968 were so politically unpalatable they were junked outright.

He then appointed controller Houston I. Flournoy to lead a second attempt at a practical tax reform package—one that would ease the burden on the home-owning property tax payer and provide a more stable system of state aid to public schools.

Reagan rejected several of the major Flournoy commission proposals. His own substitute program got nowhere in the 1969 session.

Reagan has worked more closely with the legislative leadership on tax reform this time, partly because Republicans now control both houses of the legislature.

This appears to enhance chances of passing some form of tax reform, a major campaign promise by many legislators in 1966 and 1968.

Instructions For Garbage Mailed

Letters of instruction on the monthly free pickup of backyard debris have been sent to approximately 8,500 San Rafael customers of the Marin Sanitary Service, according to Joseph J. Garbarino, owner.

On the first pickup of each month, residents may place containers of up to 30 gallons on the curb near the point of pickup. These can be plastic bags, boxes or a garbage can with lawn clippings, garden debris, prunings or papers. The containers should not contain cans, bottles, rocks or dirt, Garbarino said.

When the service, limited to San Rafael customers, has been worked out to the satisfaction of the disposal service, it will be expanded month by month to include all of the company's 19,000 customers, possibly within a year, Garbarino said.

New York City Subways Snarled With Use Of New Fare Token

NEW YORK (UPI)—Subway riders lined up by the tens of thousands and some rebelled and jumped over turnstiles today in the chaotic switch from a 20-cent fare to 30 cents.

When four riders at one Manhattan station tried to walk to the platform through exit doors without paying, Transit Police handcuffed them—yelling and cursing—to bars next to the change booth. They were among at least eight persons arrested at the height of the morning rush.

At Grand Central Station, jammed with commuters from outside the city who had been unable to stock up on the new 30-cent token during the weekend, lines at subway change booths wound up to street level and spilled out onto Lexington Avenue. There were as many as 1,500 people on some lines.

Bus travel also was complicated for riders used to using tokens intead of the exact change.

The new fare, which went into effect yesterday to meet the cost of a new contract with the city's 33,000 transit workers, already faced a court challenge from riders.

Straphangers United obtained a court order from a state Supreme Court justice last night directing Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and the Metropolitan Transportation Authority to show cause why subway and bus fares should not be returned to 20 cents.

About 25 subway riders took more direct action at the Continental Avenue station in Forest Hills, Queens, a major transfer point on the Independent line. They jumped over the turnstiles.

Transit Police said four of the riders were taken into custody.

The new 30-cent tokens, slightly smaller than a quarter, went on sale Saturday following announcement of the fare raise Friday. Stations, usually quiet on the weekend, were jammed with riders trying to change their old dime-sized 20-cent tokens for the new ones before the rush began today.

Man Found Dead In Houseboat

Timothy Joseph Cameron, 26, a classical guitar maker, was discovered dead yesterday in his houseboat apartment at Gate Six, Waldo Point, apparently of a self-inflicted knife wound of his neck, according to Deputy Marin Coroner Richard W. Madigan.

Cameron was discovered at Apt. 1, Spreckles houseboat, at 9 a.m. by a neighbor, Clara Rittenhouse. He had been dead at least five hours, Madigan reported.

An autopsy will be performed, Madigan said.

Cameron reportedly had been despondent for an undetermined reason, Madigan said.

A native of New York, Cameron had lived in Marin three years. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cameron of Oakland.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley.

Rose Kennedy Gets Greek Island Tour

CORFU, Greece (AP) — Mrs. Rose Kennedy was the guest of Aristotle Onassis and her former daughter-in-law, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, on a tour yesterday of this Ionian island.

The party also included Mrs. Onassis' children, Caroline and John F. Kennedy Jr., and the shipping magnate's daughter by his first marriage, 19-year-old Christina. They flew here from Scorpios, the private Onassis refuge off the Ionian seacoast.

Gina Is Assured The Best Things

LONDON (AP) — Gina Lollobrigida assured the public yesterday that the man she plans to marry can keep her in the style to which she's accustomed.

The 40-year-old actress denied what were said to be Italian newspaper reports that George Kaufman, her American husband-to-be, works for wages.

Miss Lollobrigida, in London for a television appearance, said, "I put these stories to George and he assures me that his family owns many properties in America.

"Let's be realistic about it. I need someone who is able to keep me in a position to which I am accustomed."

Kaufman, interviewed with Miss Lollobrigida at a night club, said he is a director of several real estate companies. Their marriage, planned for last month, has been postponed reportedly because of the actress' career commitments.

Auto Collision Injuries Minor

Two women suffered minor injuries in a two-car collision at Tiburon Boulevard and Strawberry Drive, Strawberry, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said a car driven by Gloria Babette Eagan, 30, of 13 Haven Drive, Petaluma, eastbound on Tiburon Boulevard collided at 8:20 a.m. Friday with a car driven by Sheryl Lee Lazar, 25, of 40 Harbor Oak Drive Tiburon.

Mrs. Lazar, who suffered a head bump, was treated at Marin General Hospital, while Mrs. Eagan, who suffered a head bump and cut right knee, refused hospitalization, officers reported.

TO FIGHT ENGLISH LAW—Jose Felciano, sightless guitarist-singer, takes a rest with his guide dog Trudy—the subject of a battle with the British he plans during a spring concert tour. He will seek to lift the six-month dog quarantine imposed on all dogs—especially guide dogs. (UPI Telephoto)

DOG QUARANTINE

Blind Singer Plans To Stir Up British

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jose Feliciano, the sightless guitarrist-singer who touched off a minor national outrage by warbling a soul version of the national anthem at a World Series game two years ago, is about to stir up the British.

Last October he flew to Britain for a concert and to appear on several television shows.

He traveled without his guide dog, Trudy — a smooth-haired collie — because English law forbids entry of dogs from abroad unless they undergo six months quarantine, a safeguard against rabies.

"I took Trudy to England two years ago and they put her in a quarantine kennel for two weeks," Feliciano said. "It almost killed her.

"My wife helped me find my way around. But because I'm blind I feel restricted without my dog. I didn't have any mobility. And I found myself asking Hilda, my wife, to obey commands I usually give Trudy. It was confusing."

Feliciano plans to return to more concerts.

"When I get there I plan to petition the queen through the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to change the laws for guide dogs," he said.

"The odds are against my getting to talk to the queen, but something should be done to help blind people going to England.

"Trudy's been with me for seven years, and I'm as dependent on her as she is on me. Maybe one of the English ministries will help get my message across.

"Their laws are even more difficult for English citizens. A blind Englishman can come to the United States with his dog, but when he gets back home the dog is quarantined for the usual six months.

"It's a hardship for everyone."

Feliciano, a native of Puerto Rico, minimizes his blindness as much as possible. He believes a performer, sightless or not, should entertain an audience and win it over on talent alone. Not sympathy.

"The television people sometimes think I shouldn't appear with my dog because it detracts from the entertainment aspect of the show.

"I can't say whether this is true.

"I do know that for a guide dog and its master to work together they must become emotionally involved. Trudy relies on my emotional attachment to her as much as I am dependent on her eyes and loyalty.

"This is something the British should take into consideration for blind people visiting their country."

MUSIC REVIEW

Ludwig Altman Near Perfect In Recital

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

No better musician than the distinguished San Francisco organist Ludwig Altman could have been selected to show off the resources of the recently renovated and enlarged pipe organ at Christ Episcipal Church in Sausalito.

His recital yesterday afternoon, the second in a series of four made possible by several church members as a community service, drew a capacity audience. Anyone planning to attend the next two is advised to go early for a seat, for the church, a perfect setting for intimate music, is very small.

Altman chose his program admirably to suit the church and the instrument. The organ has a lovely tone with an unusually soft base. Musical selections and Altman's registration stressed lightness, clarity of texture and lyrical style for the most part.

Since no revelation of organ resources is conceivable without work by J. S. Bach, four were included. Two were serene chorale preludes, "The Old Year Has Passed Away" and "When in the Hour of Direst Need", and two were technical show pieces, the "Contrapunctus Eleven" from "The Art of Fugue" and the Prelude and Fugue in G Major.

The last two showed the flexibility of the instrument and Altman's skill in making the various voices distinct in the contrapuntal texture.

I was fascinated with two works by Mendelssohn, a newly discovered Prelude in D Minor written by the composer at the incredible age of 11, and already bearing the stamp of his style and a mature andante with variations, one notable for a typical graceful treble filagree.

Amusing novelties that were similar, though written by widely differing composers, Phillip Emanuel Bach and Beethoven, were compositions for organ clock reminiscent of the tinkly sound of a mechanical music box. Beethoven's allegro and scherzo were light and playful, but the three from the Bach suite were marked by more contrast in tempo and registration.

Serious, songful and more contemporary sounding in harmony were Altman's own three quiet choral preludes: "Awake, Awake," "The Night has Come" and "Praise and Honor."

Most unusual of all, in that it was the first time I have ever heard a pipe organ sound like a prankish clown — moreover in the most unlikely piece — were the variations on "America" By Charles Ives.

So titillating were some of the passages, including a jazzy one ending in a grandiose flourish, that some of the audience laughed aloud. Laughing in church at an organ recital must be some kind of record.

Adding a great deal of enjoyment to the recital were Altman's interesting prefatory comments on the works performed.

'Film In Humanities' Course Set At Tam

"Films in the Humanities," a course focusing on short films and documentaries being used in Marin schools, will be offered at Tamalpais Evening High School beginning at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The winter quarter course, which has a $6 tuition fee for the Wednesday night sessions, will show about 30 films on the period from the Middle Ages to the 19th Century.

School Trends

Trends in architectural design of secondary schools will be discussed by the citizens advisory committee of the Petaluma Board of Education at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the schools office.

Tank Permit Asked

Petaluma Cooperative Creamery's request to locate a 54-foot-tall storage tank at its plant at Upham Street and Western Avenue will be considered at the Petaluma Planning Commission meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow. Also to be reviewed is design for remodeling of an unfinished restaurant on Old Redwood Highway by J. A. Oberg.

Contents Of Mailbox Burned

No one is overjoyed to receive a federal income tax form but having one burned in your mailbox doesn't make it any easier.

Phil A. Spingnola of 20 Dutch Valley Lane reported to sheriff's deputies Friday that someone had burned the contents of his mailbox, several magazines and the federal tax return between Wednesday and Friday.

Deputies believed it was the act of juveniles.

Cleaver Weighs His Chance Of Returning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eldridge Cleaver, fugitive leader of the Black Panther Party, says he wants to return to the United States " "to actively participate in the struggle," the Washington Post reported in today's editions.

In a dispatch from Algiers, where the militant black leader has been in self-imposed exile the last six months, the Post quoted Cleaver as saying:

"If I'm given my day in court and restored on bail, I'd be willing to face charges. Then I will go back openly and publicly. If that's not possible then I'll go back the way I left."

Cleaver left the United States in 1968 while he was on parole from an attempted murder conviction. He had been charged with attempted murder again in connection with a shootout between Oakland, Calif. police and Panthers.

He was freed on $50,000 bail on the new charge but fled the country when ordered to surrender after his parole was revoked. The bail was forfeited.

"My whole purpose is to actively participate in the struggle and I want to do it inside the United States," the Post quoted Cleaver as saying during the interview in Algiers.

Last Dec. 17, Charles Garry, attorney for Cleaver, said the Panther leader did not intend to return to the United States. "I'd like him to come back, but as a free man, not as a slave," Garry said.

Cleaver issued a statement through the party's national headquarters last month saying that the State Department had told him it would issue him a certificate to get back into the United States, "where I would be arrested as soon as I got there."

He said "The State Department refused us the passports and told us that the only thing that they could would give us is a document that would allow us to return to the United States for the purpose of being arrested."

Cleaver, who lives with his wife and five-month-old son in Algiers, told the Post that recent clashes between Panthers and police in the Los Angeles and Chicago represent "an attempt to eliminate the leadership of the Black Panther party and disrupt its ability to function."

Urban Program

The San Anselmo School District board will discuss joining the city's urban planning program when it meets at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the multiuse room of Brookside School 116 Butterfield Road.

Car Hits Rail; Injuries Minor

A 41-year-old Ross driver suffered a cut scalp yesterday when his car crashed into a guard rail along the eastbound Sir Francis Drake Boulevard connector to southbound Highway 101 at Greenbrae, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Officers said the driver, Erskine Scott Bufano of 110 Laurel Grove Avenue, was beginning to pass another car at a point where the roadway narrowed to a single lane when his car jumped the curb and hit the rail.

Bufano was treated at Marin General Hospital. The mishap occurred at 1 a.m.

YOU cooler heads, on the other hand, might consider investing in Redwood Bank's 5% Growth Savings Bonds or 5% Current Income Savings Bonds.

A ten year guarantee of 5% interest may not give you gooseflesh, but there are duller things in the world.

CURRENT INCOME SAVINGS BONDS, issued for a minimum of $100, will get you an interest check in the mail regularly at the end of every quarter beginning three months after date of purchase. They may be redeemed then, or at the end of any subsequent three month period, with full interest earned to date.

GROWTH SAVINGS BONDS, issued for a minimum of $100, get the 5% annual interest rate added and compounded daily during the ten years to maturity. Interest is paid every day of the year, and interest is earned on interest. Redeemable, with interest earned to date, after three months or any subsequent three month period up to the full ten years, when your money will have earned a tidy sum.

Both kinds of bonds are F.D.I.C. insured to $20,000, and suitable for framing.

Women Voters Urge State Help On Juvenile Justice

The purpose and duties of the Marin County Juvenile Justice Commission should be defined more specifically by the state Legislature, according to the League of Women Voters of Southern Marin.

In a position paper, the second in a series resulting from a two-year study of juvenile justice in Marin County, the league noted that state legislation authorize juvenile justice commissions but failed to define what they should do.

The league suggested the commission should include representatives from "pertinent fields of expertise," including attorneys, pediatricians, clergymen, teachers and youth representatives, as well as representatives of various economic levels.

The paper also recommended that the juvenile justice commission make itself more available to the citizenry, to discern the will of the community in regard to treatment of juveniles and educate the community to its own responsibilities toward juveniles in trouble.

The position paper also said:

Inproved methods of treatment and rehabilitation of juvenile offenders "is of leading importance."

Deputy probation officers should carry decreased workloads, even though this might require an increase in cost. It suggested this would make possible more effective rehabilitation programs and thereby "lead to a decrease in repeat offenses."

The probation officer who investigates and files the petition in court should not be the same person who makes the social investigation and recommends disposition.

New concepts of treatment of juvenile offenders are needed.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors should have a master plan for improvement of juvenile detention facilities.

The juvenile court judgeship should be rotated among the superior court judges.

Mrs. Warren Uhte, committee chairman, said the league will continue its study through the spring, focusing its attention primarily on the probation department.

Ross Valley Fears Fire Ban May Hike Flood Risk

Will the ban on backyard burning add to the flood problems in Ross Valley, and if so, what steps can be taken to minimize the problem

This will be discussed by the Ross Valley Flood Control Zone Advisory Board at 4 p.m. Wednesday at Larkspur City Hall. Chairman Neil R. Brixon will preside.

Other topics on the agenda are:

1. A report on the status of Corte Madera Creek project phase 3-a, from College Avenue in Kentfield to 700 feet below Lagunitas Road in Ross.

2. Report on last month's flooding in College park, Kentfield and Ross.

3. Setting a policy on who should be responsible for removing trees and debris from creek banks.

Charles E. Murphy, county flood control engineer, has contended phase 3-A of Corte Madera Creek project probably cannot be completed until 1971.

Pesticides Talk In Mill Valley

Dr. Stirling Bunnell, Mill Valley psychiatrist and naturalist, will discuss pesticides and their effect on ecology at Thursday's meeting of the Marin Ecology Center at 7 p.m. in Mill Valley City Hall.

Two meetings for citizens concerned about pollution problems are set for next week. On Jan. 13 at 7:30 p.m. a discussion of air pollution and transportation will be held in the music room of the Episcopal Church of Our Savior in Mill Valley.

A meeting to discuss pure food and re-usable packaging is scheduled Jan. 12 in the meeting room of the Co-op Shopping Center in Corte Madera.

The Ecology Center has opened a new office, to be manned by volunteers, at 17 Madrona Street, Mill Valley.

San Franciscan Held For Superior Court

John Davis, 37, of San Francisco, was bound over to Marin Superior Court Friday on charges of car theft and burglary. He was to appear today for arraignment.

Davis was arrested Dec. 24 by San Rafael police after he was seen loading food and household items into a car in front of 60 Villa Avenue. The house had been broken into, police said.

Dominican Sets College Signups

Registration for new students at Dominican College will be Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. in Room 8, Guzman Hall. The spring semester starts on Jan. 12 and runs through May 16.

The college will offer evening classes in creative approaches to problem solving, Mondays; social implications of modern biology, Thursdays; history of Marin County Wednesdays, all starting at 7:30; seminar in poetry, Christian existentialism, and introduction to exceptional children, all at 7 p.m. Wednesdays.

The black studies program will include a course in African art and French-African literature, to be taught in French.

Hub Council Sets Talk Of Floods

Problems resulting from the Dec. 19-20 flooding in San Anselmo will be discussed at tomorrow's meeting of the San Anselmo City Council at 8 p.m. in city hall.

The council will hear reports of what happened during the flood from the city administrator, fire and police chiefs, director of public works, and members of the business community.

Proposals for a more efficient city-wide system of flood control will be discussed.

'Ecology Awareness' Day At School Set

Bay Area pollution and conservation issues will be discussed at an "Ecology Awareness Day," Saturday at 9:30 a.m. in the Terra Linda High School cafeteria.

Sponsored by the Terra Linda High Ecology Club, the program will feature films, speakers, displays and discussion groups. Speakers will include: Michael Wornum and John McInnis, Marin County supervisors; Clerin Zumwalt of the Audubon Canyon Ranch; Harold Gregg of the Marin Conservation League, and Stephanie Mills, representing Planned Parenthood of Alameda County.

Gnoss Will Nominate McInnis For Repeat

County Supervisor William A. Gnoss plans to nominate John F. McInnis for a second term as board of supervisors' chairman at the board's reorganization meeting tomorrow at 9 a.m.

Gnoss, who was vice chairman in 1969, would be in line for the chairmanship but has said he doesn't want it.

Supervisors face a relatively light agenda for the year's first meeting. They will consider reshuffling the terms of the Marin Aviation Commission so that each commissioner will serve during the same four years that his supervisor serves. At present, aviation commissioners serve for three years.

Robert B. Liles, architect and engineer, will seek permission to expand septic tank system at the home of Robert Emery, 76 Moncada Way, just outside San Rafael. The division of environmental health denied permission, and Liles is appealing.

In the afternoon, the supervisors will hold a public hearing on a new ordinance to control filling and building on all tidal waterways in Marin.

Sign Law Study

A study session on a proposed sign ordinance is set for the Fairfax Design Review Board's meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Fairfax Women's Club Building. The 1970 action program also is to be disclosed.

Christmas Mail Hits Second Highest Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — The volume of Christmas mail reached a near-record volume of 7.9 billion pieces in 1969, the Post Office Department announced.

This total was second only to the 1967 Christmas season when 8.1 billion items were handled—with part of the volume attributed to businessmen's efforts to beat a postage-rate increase which became effective in January 1968.

The Ten 'Best Coiffured'

Mediums, hot and cool, have helped dictate the hairstyles of the 10 talented ladies selected as the World's Best Coiffured Women for 1969 by a guild of professional beauticians.

The 1969 winners include news broadcaster Barbara Walters; cookbook authoress Florence Kerr Hirschfeld; movie star Doris Day; actress Angela Lansbury; singers Shirley Bassey, Vikki Carr and Lainie Kazan; television star Diahann Carroll; socialite Mrs. Alfred Bloomingdale; and fashion designer June Francis.

THIS WAS THE 13th year in which the guild judged the coiffures of women in the news. As in the past, the winners were selected on the basis of the attractiveness of their hairstyles and their appropriateness to the personality, appearance and way of life of the wearers.

The 10 best coiffured this year includes three past winners of the honor, Diahann Carroll and Barbara Walters, who were selected in 1968 and Doris Day who received the award in 1962.

For the first time the nation's beautficians selected the pacesetter style which proved most popular during 1969. The winner with the pacesetter style is Lainie Kazan.

Miss Kazan's casual coif is short, softly styled, with loose curls giving her maximum freedom at the top. She frequently adds hairpieces to her medium-short coif for a variety of different looks. Her favorite styles include long hair created with a fall, the classic Gibson Girl look and a snood-covered chignon at the nape of her neck.

"A WOMAN'S hairstyle completes the total picture which she has chosen for herself. It reflects her personality and therefore makes her a complete woman," she comments.

Diahann Carroll, now starring in the second season as television's "Julia," began her career as a model. Her favorite hairstyle is short and simple, topped with loose curls and a guiche over each cheek.

Doris Day likes her hair chin length for greatest styling flexibility, although she has secret desire to have tons of hair. She relies on wigs and hairpieces to save her time when doing shows for her television series.

"A good or bad hairstyle can make or break you," she comments. "If my hair looks good, I feel much more secure."

VETERAN ACTRESS Angela Lansbury achieved worldwide fame in her stage interpretation of "Mame." Now, two Tony Awards later, she is touring Europe with "Mame" and will return soon to star in a major motion picture. Miss Lansbury's short coif is softly curled on top with full bangs accenting her pixie-like eyes.

Shirley Bassey cut her long locks this year into a new Napoleonic look — long and shaggy in back and shorter in front framing the face with soft wisps. Although she loves long hair, she finds short hair much easier to care for between her weekly trips to the beauty salon. For her frequent stage appearances, she likes to wear wigs — she owns several including a blond one.

Newswoman Barbara Walters is wearing her deep brown hair in a longer style this year. She occasionally wears a fall or a pin-on pony tail when she wants a change.

"The only problem I have with my hairstyle is that I must find one that pleases my director, my husband, my audience and myself, and that's not always easy." Her hair received more comment from viewers than anything else on NBC's "Today Show."

"I was wearing my hair pulled back, but this style did not give me a good profile. Since I am interviewing people so much of the time during the show, I must have a hairstyle that looks good from the side," she says.

"I FEEL THAT longer hair is much easier for me to work with. Several weeks ago when I was to interview President Nixon, my hairdresser couldn't get there at the time I needed him so I had to do my hair myself."

Cookbook authoress Florence Kerr Hirschfeld's steel grey hair is styled in a short, softly curled coif. She says that she likes to keep her hair relatively short for working in her test kitchen and for cooking demonstrations. A world traveler, Mrs. Hirschfeld frequently speaks in front of women's groups on her vast knowledge of gourmet cooking.

Vikki Carr's simple chin-length coif has several blonde streaks in front which she kiddingly refers to as her plaid hair. She keeps her hairstyle simple because her husband likes it that way.

"I thought about a fancy upsweep for a wedding once, but my husband said that I would look like everyone else there, so I kept it in a basic style," she comments. Her hair was short a year ago but the new longer style, she feels, gives her a softer look.

"Of course it does tickle my nose a lot during performances," she giggled.

MRS. ALFRED Bloomingdale has had the same basic hairstyle for a number of years. She and her hairdresser decide on styling variations, but her favorite look has deep waves and curled wings on one side. Active in many cultural organizations in Los Angeles, she finds mid-length hair the easiest to handle and the most flattering length for her classic wardrobe.

When fashion designer June Francis had her long locks cut off two years ago, she felt as if she were loosing her femininity.

"But now I think short hair is much more versatile than long hair," she said, "and just as feminine."

Once every two weeks, she has her hair cut and is thinking about having just the front frosted. "Hair must be natural," says Miss Francis, "and not overshadow the face of the person wearing it. If my hair is right, everything is right."

Catherine Klein Is Wed To Edward Huston IV

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Curtis A. Klein of Mill Valley was the setting for the wedding of their daughter, Catherine Ann, to Edward David Hudson IV of Los Angeles Dec. 27.

Matron of honor for the ceremony was Mrs. Vincent Fokowski, and Mrs. Garth Richards was the bridesmaid. A. Gene Musso performed best man duties and Curtis Neale Klein, the bride's brother, and William Mong of Seattle were the ushers.

The reception followed at the Tiburon Lodge. The couple will make their home in Los Angeles.

The bride attended Tamalpais High School, the College of Marin and the University of California at Santa Barbara, and her husband's schools are McLane High School, the University of California at San Diego and U.C. at Santa Barbara.

TO PUBLISH ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING STORIES IN THE I-J

Forms for engagement and wedding story information to be printed in the Independent-Journal are available from the I-J offices in San Rafael, Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma.

Wedding forms should be returned promptly to the I-J office in your area and information will be printed immediately after the wedding. Photographers should be urged to submit a print of the wedding picture promptly. Color photographs cannot be used.

The Independent-Journal does not print wedding stories or photographs received more than seven days after the wedding.

An engagement form may be accompanied by a professional black and white photograph, which may be picked up at the I-J office after publication. Snapshots, polaroid or color pictures are not suitable.

Her Well-Creamed Skin Rarely Looks Younger Than Husband's

Women, forever looking for a magic formula to make them look younger, avoid washing their faces with soap and water and instead, baste their bodies with oils and skin creams. Yet, according to Dr. Lewis Shapiro, attending-physician-in-charge of the dermatology division at Long Island Jewish Medical Center, women rarely look younger than their husbands who scrub their bodies with soap and scrape their faces with rough razor blades.

"None of the oil and cream cosmetics on the market today has any proven value in preventing or curing wrinkled and dry skin — the effects of aging," he said. However, at times they do alleviate the condition. The popular concept is that oil softens the skin but Dr. Shapiro disputes this. "Young children have almost no natural oil in their skin yet their skin is considered ideal," he said.

"Starting at about puberty, the skin naturally produces oil which doctors believe helps the skin retain water, and it seems that water, not oil, is the substance that prevents skin from drying out. Oil, however, acts as an extra sealing agent for the skin.

"As women reach menopause, the amount of oil produced falls off considerably," Dr. Shapiro explained, adding that men usually continue producing natural oil for many more years.

"As we get older, our skin has less effect as a barrier to the outside world. Thus the water in the body and skin may escape, causing dryness," said Dr. Shapiro.

Some women, who think they have dry skin because it is scaly, still may have oily skin. "They may have 'dandruff of the skin,' — scaly skin on the forehead and at the sides of the nose — in which case extra oil is not the answer. Specific medication may control the condition," said Dr. Shapiro.

While lubricating the skin every few hours may make a mature woman feel younger because her skin feels temporarily softer, Dr. Shapiro said he doubted that lubricating the body from birth on into middle age would prevent the skin from drying out. In fact, little can be done to get rid of the effects of aging skin.

"Most damage comes from too much sun. If you don't want to have wrinkled skin, don't expose your skin to the sun," said Dr. Shapiro.

The rays which cause tanning (ultraviolet rays) are the same rays that age the skin. "You can't tan and expect your skin to stay young," Dr. Shapiro warned.

Ultraviolet rays also cause

FOREVER LOOKING for a magic formula to make them look younger women avoid soap and water and instead use oils and creams. But, says a New York dermatologist, they rarely look younger than their husbands who scrub their bodies with soap and scrape their faces with rough razor blades. (UPI Cabelphoto)

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Slap Him For Back Child Support And He Probably Won't Stay Long

When my two children were very small, my husband left me for another woman. He paid child support at first, and then quit. I didn't see or hear from him for two years; then, because I was working two jobs, I asked him to take the kids over Easter vacation. When he returned them, he borrowed $200 from me. I never got it back.

Last year I married a wonderful man who is more of a father to my children, now aged 10 and five, than my first husband ever was.

Now, out of the blue, I receive a post card from overseas where their natural father is, saying he'll be home soon and wants to see his kids. They have adjusted to their new life and I don't want them upset. My daughter is getting good grades where before she was almost failing. My son is now happy-go-lucky where he was once withdrawn.

If this man comes back in their lives, the good may go out of family relationship. Can I keep him away? — MRS. U.T.

DEAR MRS. U.T.:

If a father has visiting privileges, he's entitled, but I doubt he'll stay around long enough to upset your family if you slap him with a legal dun for back child support payments — and for the return of your $200, should you have an IOU as proof. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am a widow with a daughter 14, a son 18. The boy is no trouble. He works part time and attends college. But Nadine disobeys me in every way.

Last week she came home at 1 a.m. I was furious and grounded her, but she paid no attention. Tonight I came home from work and found her smoking. She arrogantly said she would smoke anytime she pleased, and go when the where she wanted to.

I lost my head and smacked her hard. She cursed me and ran crying to her room. My son couldn't believe that I actually spanked her as I have never hit my children before. He thinks I should reason with her, but she won't speak to me.

I work long hours and hardly ever see Nadine. When I do, I'm too tired to reason with her hatefulness. Now I've surely lost her. What can I do? — GUILTY

DEAR GUILTY:

On the contrary, you may have found Nadine. Sometimes a good smack brings a problem into focus.

Perhaps your daughter wanted a showdown so that she could find out whether she really has a mother. She won't sulk long if you let her know you're on her side, and you'll take time to listen. I doubt that, at age 14, rebellion has jelled so firmly it can't be dissolved with the warmth she may have been searching for every since her father died. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

Are people still collecting tea bags to turn in for wheel chairs for disabled veterans? — HELPFUL

P.S. I have a bundle of them.

DEAR HELPFUL:

Throw your tea bag tags away. No one is, was, or ever will be collecting tea bag tags as a charitable effort for disabled veterans, nursing homes, or anything else.

This cruel hoax is almost as hard to kill as it was to bring Paul McCartney back from the dead. — H.

SKIN

color changes in the skin. These "age spots" are usually brownish or tan. "The parts of the skin that are normally covered by clothing are not old looking, yet they are the same age as the rest of your skin," he said.

The main structure of the fiber of the skin (collagen) comes in two forms: solid and soluble (dissolved), Dr. Shapiro explained. "As you get older, you have less of the soluble form and more of the solid form, perhaps contributing to wrinkles."

MR. AND MRS. HARRY J. EGGER JR.
(Wallace photo)

Barbara Nielsen Is Wed To Harry J. Egger Jr.

Barbara Ann Nielsen exchanged wedding vows Dec. 27, with Harry James Egger Jr. at the Presidio Chapel in San Francisco.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice D. Nielsen of Kentfield, the bride was attended by her sister, Jackie Nielsen, also of Kentfield.

Carter Provo of Los Angeles served as best man. The reception was held afterward at the home of the bride's parents.

The couple will live in Meridian, Miss., where the bridegroom is serving with the Navy taking flight training.

Barbara is a Tamalpais High School graduate and attended the College of Marin.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Egger of North Hollywood are Harry's parents. He received a degree from the University of California at Los Angeles and took one year of graduate work there before entering the Navy.

O'Flaherty-Emerson Texas Rite

Ann Bernadette Emerson, of El Paso, Texas, and Patrick Michael O'Flaherty of Belvedere exchanged wedding vows at St. Joseph's Church in El Paso on Dec. 27.

Ann, the daughter of Mr. Richard John Emerson of El Paso, Texas, and La Mesa, New Mexico, chose as her matron of honor her sister, Marie Emerson of El Paso. Bridesmaids were Joan Emerson, also the bride's sister, Charlotte Krenzer, Cynthia Flores, all of El Paso and Yolanda Scaccia, Pacific Grove.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Rory O'Flaherty of Belvedere. Ushers were Michael O'Flaherty of Campbell, also the bridegroom's brother, Jerome Emerson of San Francisco; Eugene Emerson and David Emerson both of La Mesa, N.M. The Emersons are the bride's uncles.

A wedding reception was held at the Hilton Inn, El Paso. The wedding trip was to San Francisco, where the couple will live.

Patrick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Deming O'Flaherty, Belvedere. He is a graduate of Marin Catholic High School and the California Maritime Academy. He is presently studying Business Administration at University of San Francisco and is employed as second mate for the United Fruit Co. of New York. He sails from San Francisco.

Jumper Styles

The new jumpers for school come in assorted styles. Samples: the horseshoe neck, suspender straps, bib top, cutaway armholes, pleated dropped waists, belted, zippered, and the pants-jumper.

MR. AND MRS. T. Bert Rogers of Mill Valley are reminded of many humorous incidents during their 50 years of marriage as they look through an album of old pictures.
(Independent-Journal photo)

Conservation Is Main Interest Of Couple Married 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. T. Bert Rogers of Mill Valley celebrated their Jan. 6 golden wedding anniversary Saturday at a family dinner given at Sabella's by their only child, Tamalpais High School history and English teacher Ann Rogers, who has her own home on Mt. Tamalpais.

Conservation is apparently the couple's major interest nowadays.

"We have been members of the Audubon Society and the Sierra Club for many years," says Mrs. Rogers. "Canyon Ranch at Bolinas is one of our favorite spots and we often go there.

"We used to do a lot of hiking and square and folk dancing. Recently as two years ago we participated in an eight-mile hike to Bootjack Camp on Mt. Tamalpais."

Mrs. Rogers says she likes to feed the birds around their home. Her husband manages to keep busy gardening and is one of those men, according to his wife, who is a very good handyman with the many things that need attention around a house.

When they lived on the farm they owned in Chico for 35 years before coming to Marin, Mrs. Rogers says she had a reputation as a gourmet cook, but now about the only specialty cooking she does is baking panetone during the holidays.

It is not surprising that their daughter, Ann, is a noted gourmet cook and author of two books, though she says she left the cooking to her mother when she lived at home and picked up the art later. Mrs. Rogers gave Ann some of her recipes for inclusion in the first cook book.

A native of San Francisco, Clare Rogers was graduated from San Francisco Normal School, now San Francisco State College, and taught fourth grade in Martinez about a year and a half before her marriage.

The couple met when Bert, a native of Iowa, interrupted his college work at Iowa State College in Ames, Iowa, to become a cadet at the U.S. Air Force Military School of Aeronautics in Berkeley during World War II.

"I was supposed to go over seas in five days when the armistice was signed," he recalls. "Then I went back to Iowa State and graduated with a B.S. in farm management."

The Rogerses were married on Jan 6, 1920, and farmed for three years in Nebraska before they moved to Oakland in 1923, but most of their married life was spent on the farm they owned in Chico for 35 years.

When Mr. Rogers retired in 1960, they moved to Tiburon, where they lived until they bought their present home in Mill Valley about a year and a half ago.

The Rogerses don't believe people who say they never had a fight during 50 years of marriage.

"We have our differences," Mrs. Rogers confesses, "but we love each other enough so that they are soon forgotten." Her husband nodded agreement.

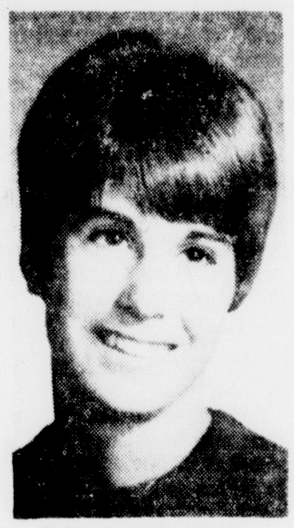
THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Holiday Traveling And Entertaining Of Marinites

By MOLLY MARIN

A cocktail party honoring newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Adams was held yesterday at the San Rafael Country Club home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Pavlovsky. Mrs. Adams, the former Anna Finan of Dublin, Ireland, was a Sausalito resident before her marriage. Gerald, son of Leon Adams of Mill Valley and Mrs. Frank Anderson of San Anselmo, recently returned from a year in Rome as a Fellow of the American Academy.



SUSAN HEASTON

D. C. Dohn To Claim Bride

Susan Lynn Heaston's engagement to David Carl Dohn of San Rafael has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice D. Heaston of Modesto, and a wedding Jan. 31 is planned in Modesto.

The sister of Mrs. Ron Greenwood of Modesto, Susan is a graduate of Thomas Downey High School and attends Chico State College.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester J. Dohn of San Rafael and the brother of John Dohn. He is a senior at Chico State College and was graduated from Terra Linda High School.

BON VOYAGE wishes were extended to Mrs. Barnaby Conrad Dec. 27 at a sailing-day party aboard the SS President Wilson when she left for a short cruise to Baja California. Marin guests included Warren S. Titus of San Rafael and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Vogeler of Tiburon.

AN OPEN HOUSE at their new home in Cape Cod, Mass., was held by Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Roskovics Dec. 27. Mrs. Roskovics (Carrie Overly, formerly of Fairfax and the daughter of Mrs. Michael Rapp) supervised the building of the three bedroom ranch style house and her husband did some of the 23 acres of landscaping.

HOLIDAY GUESTS of the Thomas Bakers of San Rafael are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Outman of Battle Creek, Mich. They were honored Saturday night with a buffet supper marking their 25th wedding anniversary by Mrs. Outman's sisters, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Elay De Baca of Guerneville and Mrs. Norman Lindstrom of San Rafael.

Dawn and Thomas, the Outmans' daughter and son, also attended.

MR. AND Mrs. V. E. McIntyre of Novato were recently vacationing at the Makaha Inn in Hawaii.

MR. AND MRS. Harvey Rogers and their sons, Ken and Steve, of Belvedere enjoyed a ski trip to Lake Tahoe slopes during the first week of January. They joined many friends and neighbors from the Tiburon area there.

COL. (RET.) and Mrs. Daniel Richards of Tiburon welcomed home their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lawrence Richards, and her son, Tommie, Sunday. The Daniel Richards' son, Maj. Lawrence Richards, will serve in Vietnam for a year and his family will live at his parents' home during his absence.

MR. AND MRS. Ralph Korstad of Scottsdale, Ariz., returned home New Year's Day following a visit with Mrs. Korstad's parents, Maj. (ret.) and Mrs. Wilfred Waldrop, in Novato.

MR. AND Mrs. James Irwin of Tiburon entertained friends at two parties in their home over Christmas holidays. Friends from St. Stephen's Church in Belvedere and from Orinda were entertained Dec. 13. Neighbors and friends were invited for cocktails on Saturday, Dec. 27.

MR. AND MRS. James Levorsen of Belvedere and their children, Mark and Ann, enjoyed a snowy Christmas while skiing at Truckee. The Levorsens spent a 10-day vacation in the mountains.

Another Belvedere family, the Thomas Wynns, also enjoyed Christmas skiing on the Truckee slopes. Mr. Wynn's sister and her family from Dallas, Texas, joined the Wynns at Truckee for a Christmas reunion and skiing. They are Mr. and Mrs. James Hollis and their children Laurie, Wynn and Clayton, now houseguests at the Thomas Wynns' Belvedere home.

JORGE MANSILLA held a New Year's Eve party for friends in the "Yacht Club" Room of the Cove Apartments, Tiburon.

JUSTICE AND Mrs. Richard M. Sims Jr. of Belvedere and their children and children's friends spent the first week of January skiing and snowshoeing at Dutch Flat in Placer County, California.

COL. (RET.) and Mrs. Robin Cannon of Novato spent Christmas with their son and family, Capt. and Mrs. Kirby H. Cannon, at Laughlin Air Force Base at Del Rio, Tex. They also met their newest grandson, Michael Robin, born on Nov. 20. Michael has a brother and sister, Jeffrey and Meredith.

Cathy Cannon, the daughter of the Robin Cannons, also visited with the family. She was graduated magna cum laude from Temple Buell College in Denver on Dec. 13.

N. C. Cummings Will Wed Pamela Hornby

The engagement of Pamela Ann Hornby to Nicholas Chevalier Cummings of San Francisco has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hornby Jr. of Kentfield.

The couple are making plans for a June wedding.

Pamela, who is the sister of Stephen and Roger Hornby, is a graduate of Santa Catalina School in Monterey and Pine Manor College and she attended the University of California. She is presently serving as treasurer of the Spinsters in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Ramsdell Cummings of Woodside are the future bridegroom's parents. He attended the Kent School and was graduated from the Army Navy Academy in Carlsbad and from Menlo College before entering the University of California. He is employed with Dean Whitter and Co. Nicholas is a member of the Bachelors of San Francisco. He is the brother of Mrs. Carl M. Johnson of San Jose and of Anthony Cummings of London.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Size Of This Year's Tax Return May Bewilder Many

Wikel

Are you appalled by the size of the new simple income tax return form that you have just received from Internal Revenue Service?

If you were used to using the old card form 1040A, this 32 page package must have amazed you, since it contains:

Two Forms 1040; two Schedules A (ftemized deductions); two Schedules B (dividends and interest); two Schedules D (capital gains); two Schedules E (pensions, rents, etc.); two Schedules R (retirement income credit); one Schedule T (Tax Computation), and tables and instructions.

There is no card form 1040A this year.

If you earn less than $5,000 all from wages and don't have more than $100 of dividends or interest income and you don't ftemize your deductions, and you don't have sick pay or moving expenses or employee business expenses or payments as a self-employed person to a retirement plan, or income averaging or retirement income credit or investment credit or foreign tax credit, then chances are you can file just page 1 of Form 1040.

If you filed the old long Form 1040 last year and had business income, your package was the same as above plus:

Two Schedules C (business); two Schedules F (farm); two Schedules SE (self-employment computation); two Forms 3462 (investment credit); two Forms 4136 (credit for non-highway gasoline tax), and related information, for a total of 56 pages.

Unless you have a very small and simple income, you will have to go further than one page.

If you were a farmer or fisherman, you should have received your package by Dec. 13. Also released at the same time were forms for servicemen.

Other taxpayers should have received their forms package after Friday, with everyone receiving theirs by tomorrow.

The IRS started printing the forms for 1969 income tax returns in October. Of necessity, they were based on the law as it was in October, when they had to start printing in order to get forms distributed in time for you to file your 1969 tax return on time.

Your forms will be in a die-cut package which allows affixing the address label to the Form 1040. The IRS earnestly requests that you use the pre-addressed forms in these packets to prepare your returns and that you use the return envelopes enclosed in the tax packages which will have the same sort codes as last year.

The law may have changed since the forms were printed and the forms may not be right. Watch your Independent-Journal for information.

Mill Valley Coalition Raises Questions Over Fill Projects

The Mill Valley Coalition, a newly formed conservationist organization, has protested proposed development of upper Richardson Bay in letters to the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission and Mill Valley city officials.

Further, organization members, led by Elizabeth Terwilliger and Richard Russell, both of Mill Valley, have promised to appear at today's Mill Valley City Council meeting at 8 p.m. in city hall and Thursday's BCDC meeting at 2 p.m. in the state building in San Francisco, to try to block further fill of the upper bay area.

Main targets of the group are the city's proposed small craft harbor development and extension of Sycamore Avenue to Highway 101.

Both projects in the past have been supported by conservationists as opening the bay to recreational use.

However, the coalition now argues that the two developments will require filling ecologically valuable marshlands and will block tidal flow to other salt marshes along the Mill Valley shoreline.

In letters to BCDC Executive Director Joseph E. Bodovitz, Mrs. Terwilliger and Russell asked Bodovitz to prohibit further filling of the harbor area requested recently by the city.

Bodovitz has indicated to the city he will issue a permit to allow final filling of the approximately 17-acre harbor area initially filled in 1965.

However, Bodovitz, in a Dec. 31 letter to Mrs. Terwilliger, said any further filling or diking of areas now affected by tidal action will require a public hearing and decision of the full commission. This ruling would affect plans to extend Sycamore Avenue across the marshlands to Highway 101 south of Sabella's Restaurant.

In another letter to city officials, dated Dec. 22, Mrs. Terwilliger and Russell outlined five concerns the group has over the proposed developments.

They questioned the methods which will be used to transport fill excavated from Shelter Ridge across the marshes and inlet to the harbor area.

Further, they asked city staff or the council to issue a "positive directive" or vote a temporary ordinance to control fill activities and order a survey of remaining marshlands in Richardson Bay.

The spokesmen also objected to the "poorly prepared, fragmented, ill-advised nature . . . of the current yacht harbor plans," and asked staff to go "back to the drawing board" to prepare a plan which will be of "maximum benefit for all Mill Valley residents."

Finally, the letter calls the proposed Sycamore extension "abortive" and says that if "the plans are allowed to follow mindlessly into a reality, it will fragment the entire marshlands flow and vista of marshlands of the bay . . . and open the remaining marshes to piecemeal development."

Mill Valley Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon said the Coalition has indicated it supports a shallow draft harbor for small sailboats and canoes with adjacent areas left in a natural state for use by ducks, birds and other wildlife rather than the deep water harbor sought by the city.

Bragdon said the city's plans call for dredging the upper bay area for the deep water harbor to service larger motor and sailing craft. A portion of the shoreline will be developed with water-oriented commercial uses, including a motel, restaurants, marine hardware and other shops.

The remaining section will be open for public recreational use with city plans calling for a marina green, picnic areas and a community and cultural center.

Long range city plans also call for a second harbor area directly west of the small craft harbor. The second harbor, according to Bragdon, would be shallow for small sailboats, canoes and recreational use by children.

However, actual development of the harbor has been awaiting dredging of the Saucelito Canal by the Army Corps of Engineers. The dredging project will begin if increased dredging costs are approved by the assessment district financing the project in hearings scheduled for late March before the county board of supervisors.

Lecture Series On Economics To Start Soon

A 10-week discussion series in economics, including a study of property taxes, will be offered this month by the Henry George School of Social Science at five Marin locations.

The discussions will be held for 10 weeks at Redwood High School in Larkspur, starting Jan. 12 at 8 p.m.; Ross Rehabilitation Center, 1111 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, Jan. 13 at 8 p.m.; Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo, Jan. 14 at 8 p.m.; Marinwood Community Center, 775 Miller Creek Road, Jan. 15 at 8 p.m., and the Mill Valley library, 375 Throckmorton Avenue, Jan. 15 at 7:30 p.m.

Information on the free program may be obtained from the school at 833 Market Street, San Francisco.

State Seeks Permit To Continue Dredging

The State Lands Division in Los Angeles has asked the Army Corps of Engineers for permission to continue commercial dredging operations in San Francisco Bay, north of Angel Island.

Any objections to granting of the permit should be mailed in triplicate by Jan. 29 to the corps at 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco.

To Discuss Bonds

The proposed sale of $24,000 in bonds will be discussed and a review of the 1969-70 district budget made at a meeting of the Shoreline Unifred School District board Tuesday at 6 p.m. at Tomales High School.

Bagley Eyes Tax Reform, Conservation

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

A huge legislative program, stressing a $1 billion tax reform package and tough conservation measures, has been drawn by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, for the 1970 session that opened today in Sacramento.

As chairman of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee, Bagley is the chief tax law writer in the lower house, and sits on a hot seat that automatically puts him in the middle of the imbroglio over tax reform.

Bagley, in an interview with the Independent-Journal, bluntly stated the need for overhauling the state's finances. The state will be so short of cash by next fall "that we'll be lucky to escape issuing scrip," he declared.

Details of the $1 billion tax reform package still are being settled by key legislators and the governor's office, Bagley said, but it will include equalization of school financing, "drastic revision" of the oil depletion allowance, property tax relief to homeowners, increases in business inventory exemptions up to 40 per cent, and withholding of income taxes from paychecks.

Gov. Ronald Reagan adamantly has opposed withholding, and Bagley said he will "not insist on it if we can reach an accommodation with the governor on an over-all tax package."

Imposition of withholding would give the state a one-time bulge in tax revenue because current taxes would be collected at the same time as past taxes, and Bagley would earmark this extra revenue to finance capital construction for which bonds cannot be sold.

The state has been unable to market most of its bonds because the constitution limits interest to 5 per cent, while the market average now pays 6.7 per cent. Proposition 7 on the June primary ballot would raise the constitutional limit to 7 per cent.

By June, Bagley said, the state will have more than $300 million in unsold, previously authorized bonds. To keep state water project contracts going until the June election, he reported, the general fund will loan up to $100 million.

Bagley predicted "total fiscal disaster" if Proposition 7 fails to win voter approval.

Even if the voters approve the proposition, and if the bond market holds below 7 per cent, selling of $300 million in bonds would glut the market, he said. The huge backlog would take time to sell, and successful sale still would leave the state in another financial crunch by next fall, Bagley said, adding "and an even worse situation a year later."

Bagley said he favored its total elimination of the depletion allowance, now 27.5 per cent.

This works out to deductions 40 times the deduction allowed any other kind of business, he maintained.

The tax reform package may replace the depletion allowance with a simple formula allowing oil companies to deduct five times their costs, he said. The new federal tax law cut the federal allowance from 27.5 to 22 per cent.

Another major piece of the tax reform package will attempt to equalize the tax base for education.

WILLIAM T. BAGLEY
Tax battle ahead

per $100 assessed valuation, with rich districts subsidizing poor ones. Districts with higher rates would be allowed to maintain them, and those with less than $2 rates would have to go to $2. Higher rates would require voter approval.

Other pieces of the tax package probably will shift all welfare costs to the state, provide some direct relief to renters, and offset losses in county tax revenue from agricultural land preserved as open space, Bagley said.

Other proposals will come from the Joint Committee on National Tax Policy, which is studying the new federal tax law to see what can be incorporated into state tax law. Bagley is chairman of the special committee.

Bagley said he also will reintroduce his 1969 bill to limit school district spending either to the statewide average per pupil, or the amount spent in the district this year, whichever is greater. A vote by the people of the district would be needed to raise the spending level more than 4 per cent allowed as an annual cost of living increase.

Conservation measures being prepared by Bagley include a ban on oil and gas well drilling on the coast and in San Francisco Bay.

The limits of the ban in the bay may have to end at Suisun Bay, he said, "where there are some vested oil and gas rights you can't affect, politically or legally."

Bagley cited years of oil seepage off Olema as evidence of the threat of drilling to Marin's shore.

He said he also was working on a bill to impose a property tax to finance local sewage treatment facilities needed to bring discharges up to state standards. The tax could be from 10 to 20 cents per $100 assessed valuation, depending on the state of local pollution, he said.

Bagley also is drafting a package of bills to expand his 1968 Public Records Act to insure public access to public records.

The package probably will include a guarantee of individuals' right to access to their own files and requirement of a log of all persons requesting information on any individual. These would be aimed at the other side of the open public records coin — protecting individuals from unwarranted invasions of privacy.

Other bills being prepared for introduction by Bagley were:

LOGGING — Authorize local control over logging to clear up the distinction between state and local government controls. This was proposed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors in the wake of difficulties with logging on Bolinas Ridge.

SUBDIVISIONS — Authorize local control over subdivisions of more than 39 acres, a bill asked by the county supervisors after a ranch on Point Reyes was subdivided into 40-acre plots, over which local government has no control.

NOISE — Improve control over noise levels by motorcycles and motor scooters.

BUSES — Authorize use of school buses for senior citizens when not used for school purposes.

POULTRY — Repeal administration proposal to close poultry inspection station in Petaluma to save about $150,000 a year.

INHERITANCE TAX — Abolish the current system of having the state controller appoint inheritance tax appraisers, replacing it with a civil service system or with appraisers who must pass a screening test.

TEACHING — Strengthen requirements for teaching of American history and government.

UTILITIES — Impose an excise tax on municipally owned utilities. Bagley said about 14 per cent of the private utility user's bill is taxes paid by the user, who thus subsidizes publicly owned utilities.

Report Card System Before Reed Trustees

A staff recommendation that a controversial new report card system be implemented by Feb. 3 will be discussed by the Reed School District board at 8 p.m. today in the multimedia center at Bel Aire School.

The report card system was approved by the board on a split 3-2 vote Oct. 21 and has been reviewed twice by the board since then, following protests from teachers and parents.

Included in the staff recommendation will be a proposed program of implementation for the new system.

Trustees also will discuss 1970 summer school and summer recreation plans and hear reports from the district's finance and research and evaluation committees.

Hearings Due Hike In Tax

The Fairfax School District board is expected to set public hearings on its proposed $1 increase in the school tax rate when it meets at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow in the district office.

Supt. H. Reginald Hammond will recommend meetings for 8 p.m. Feb. 11 and 12 at Manor School and also that the board appear or hold any other meetings requested between now and the Feb. 17 election.

The increase would bring the total tax levy to $4.01 per $100 assessed valuation.

Probation Aide Treated For Cut

A female probation officer has been treated for a cut cheek at Kaiser Foundation Hospital after she was stabbed while waiting for a bus on Donahue Street in Marin City.

Leneta C. Thomas of 419 Drake Avenue told sheriff's deputies a young Negro man, described as 5 feet, 10 inches tall and 160 pounds alighted from a blue and white 1957 Ford New Year's Day and began to talk to her, then stabbed her in the cheek and fled.

Miss Thomas is employed with the San Francisco Probation Department.

Guitar, Case Taken

A $360 guitar and guitar case were reported stolen Thursday from Frederick F. Dowden, 953 Avenue, Mill Valley. Dowden told sheriff's deputies the instrument was taken from his bus during a shopping trip to San Francisco, Sausalito and Mill Valley.

Accident Brings Halt In Power

It was a dark and cold night, so Novato patrolman Cletus Talbert reached down to turn up the heater in his patrol car early today.

While Talbert's attention was diverted, the patrol car jumped the curb and snapped a utility pole on San Jose Boulevard near Sunset Parkway, cutting off electrical service to about 700 Pacific Gas and Electric Co. customers in the area.

The patrol car suffered about $400 damage in the 4:08 a.m. accident. Talbert was unhurt.

Credit Card Suspect Booked

William Conrad, 36, of Santa Rosa, was booked into Marin County Jail Saturday on suspicion of possessing a stolen credit card, forging a credit card holder's name with intent to defraud, forgery and possessing and concealing stolen property.

San Rafael police said the man used an allegedly stolen credit card to make a purchase at the Richfield Service Station, Third Street and Grand Avenue, about 3 a.m. Saturday.

He was held on $1,875 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Third Talk Session Scheduled By College

The third in a series of meetings to promote understanding among College of Marin administrators, faculty and students and members of the community will be held Jan. 13 at 8 p.m. in the college's Olney Hall.

Those attending will be divided into four sections to discuss financial aids, student discipline, district financing, and instructional programs, according to Irwin P. Diamond, dean of students.

Oh, what a beautiful way to save!

THE FIRST, FULL-COLOR SCENIC PASSBOOK

Now you can watch your savings grow in the world's first, full-color scenic passbook at Santa Rosa Savings.

Instead of the dull, drab, humdrum pages of old-fashioned passbooks, our new Santa Rosa Savings passbook is filled with colorful paintings of the Great West. And on the cover is our new brand-like symbol "GW," honoring Great Western Financial Corporation, our parent company, whose consolidated assets now exceed $1.8 billion.

The "GW" is actually a picture window through which you see a dramatic panorama of the Sierras and the Mojave Desert. Then, as you reach each new page, you'll find another beautiful scene – a fresh inspiration for you to save even more.

Yes, saving can be beautiful... at Santa Rosa Savings, the 110-million-dollar strong one. Where we compound all interest daily – from any day-in to any day-out. Where you earn 5.13% on regular savings when our current annual rate of 5% is compounded daily and maintained a year. And where you get a new Bonus Interest Account that gives you the highest interest anywhere on insured savings – 5% Compounded Daily plus a bonus rate of .25% on funds held six months. Thereafter, you earn 5.25% Compounded Daily–5.39% when maintained a year.

Do you have savings in a tired, old-fashioned account where you don't get the most? Then move to where the beauty is... and the highest interest... and the giant strength.

Get the picture? Move to Santa Rosa Savings. It's the beautiful place to save.

Today is Monday, Jan. 5, the 5th day of 1970 with 360 more to follow.

The moon is in its last quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1925, Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming was sworn in as the first woman governor in U.S. history.

In 1959 West Germany gave support to previous British, French and American rejections of a Soviet proposal to make West Berlin a free city.

In 1964 Pope Paul VI and Greek Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras met in Jerusalem to discuss Christian unity.

In 1968 Antonin Novotny was ousted as chairman of the Czechoslovakian Communist Party and replaced by Alexander Dubcek.

A thought for the day: William Somerset Maugham said, "There are two good things in life, freedom of thought and freedom of action."

Cautious Word On Few Job Offers

Job seekers answering classified ads promising easy money for work at home should beware of firms which offer to sell the applicant materials and instructions for making products at home, the San Francisco Better Business Bureau has warned.

A BBB spokesman said many firms sell the items with a promise to buy the finished product, then reject the work as "not up to standard."

A pamphlet explaining how to tell whether earn-at-home jobs are legitimate may be obtained from the BBB, 414 Mason Street, San Francisco.

NEEDS FINESSE

When the hand was actually played, South took the queen of clubs and saw that his game depended on a successful finesse in either hearts or diamonds. South didn't know which finesse to try, and nobody had given him a finesse-guesser for Christmas, so he led the queen of diamonds for a finesse.

East won with the king of diamonds and returned a club to force out the ace. With only eight tricks outside of hearts South eventually had to tackle that suit. East won with the ace of hearts and cashed his clubs, defeating the contract.

SHOULD NOT GO DOWN

South shouldn't have gone down, even though that gadget wasn't under his Christmas tree. East might or might not have the queen of hearts or the king of diamonds to bolster up his overcall of two clubs, but it was a cinch that East had the ace of hearts.

South can play for both red suits if he begins by leading the eight of hearts for a finesse against the queen. As it happens, East has to play the ace of hearts, and South can repeat the finesse to win three heart tricks. He scores game and rubber with three spades, three hearts, one diamond and two clubs.

HEART FINESSE

If the heart finesse happens to lose to the queen, South wins the club return and tries the diamond finesse. He will thus make game if West has either the queen of hearts or the king of diamonds. South's actual play made his contract depend solely on the finesse in diamonds. Two chances are better than one.

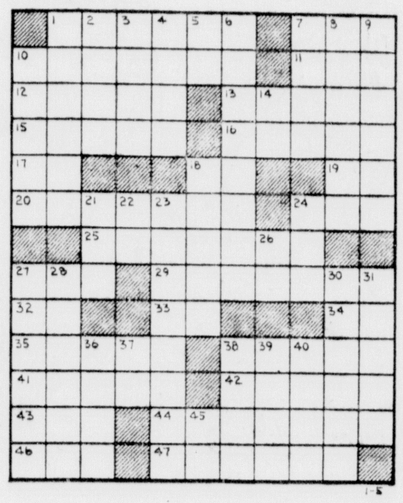
Saturday's Answer



Israel Pounds Targets Along Suez Canal

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli warplanes staged an hour-long strike into Egypt today, pounding targets along the northern sector of the Suez Canal and returning safely, the military announced.

Israel claimed two kills and Egypt one earlier after the first air battle in more than a month of daily Israeli strikes.

The Israeli military command said two of Egypt's MIG21s exploded in the air and a third was hit during the battle Sunday over Egyptian territory near the Suez Canal.

A spokesman in Cairo said one Israeli jet was shot down in the dogfight and that an Egyptian pilot took an aerial photograph of it exploding. Israel said all its planes returned safely.

Israeli spokesmen said Egyptian jets intercepted the Israeli raiders about 20 miles west of the canal while the Israelis were on a bombing mission against military targets.

CLAIMS 62 PLANES

The strike lasted one and one-half hours, the spokesman said, and the Egyptian planes "did not interfere again" after the dogfight.

Israel now claims to have destroyed 62 Egyptian warplanes since the 1967 Middle East war.

Israel meanwhile released three of the Lebanese civilians kidnapped by Israeli commandos Friday, and sources in Tel Aviv said they might be taking home an offer for a new prisoner swap. The Israelis captured nine other civilians and 10 soldiers in the raid on a Lebanese bordervillage. Israel said the raid was retaliation for the abduction of an Israeli watchman from a border outpost earlier in the week.

The Israeli military command also announced that four Arab saboteurs were killed and six Israeli soldiers wounded in a clash near a refugee camp in the Gaza Strip today. No details were given.

Hassanein Heikal, editor of the Cairo newspaper Al Ahram and a confidant of President Nasser, reported that Algerian President Houari Boumedienne decided during last month's Arab summit meeting that Algeria would fight alongside Egypt in the event of renewed war with Israel.

OTHER ARMAMENT

"The sole object of our efforts to build the Algerian army is to prepare for participating, with everything it has, in the battle," Heikal said Boumedienne told Nasser and King Hassan of Morocco.

Heikal also said Morocco agreed to furnish an unspecified amount of armaments to Egypt, and Saudi Arabia, Libya and Kuwait agreed to foot the bill for a $60 million weapons contract signed by Egypt with an unidentified foreign power.

Egyptian officials had no comment on reports that Nasser had approached France about arms purchases. Al Ahram said a London newspaper report that Egypt had asked France for $200 to $300 million worth of weapons was a "fairy tale."

Murphy Predicts A Good Report

LA JOLLA (AP) — Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., says he is confident doctors at Scripps Clinic will find him fit so he can drop the "health issue" in his campaign for re-election.

Murphy, 67, was operated on for throat cancer in 1966, was admitted for a five-day physical check-up yesterday.

He said he was certain doctors would "substantiate the clean bill of health I have already received from my own doctor."

"I feel fine," Murphy told newsmen. "I've never felt better."

Dam Gives Way In Andes, Flooding City, Killing 23

MENDOZA, Argentina (AP) — A six-foot wall of mud and water from a burst flood control dam raged through this city in the Andes foothills yesterday and police reported 23 persons were known killed.

The report of the death toll came from the police chief, Col Adolfo Diaz. Earlier reports had the toll as high as 33 known dead and radio reports from this area said the number dead could reach 70.

Rescue crews searched today for more possible victims.

A torrential all-day rain had swollen the Mendoza River to overflowing, causing flooding in many areas outside the city of 700,000. Suddenly the dam burst at Godoy Cruz, a small village just outside the city.

The flood of mud and water drowned motorists in their cars as it swept the autos along the streets. It uprooted trees, smashed houses, swept pedestrians off their feet and raged through streetside outdoor cafes.

At least 500 people were left homeless or injured as the water and mud ripped into flimsy shacks on the edge of the city, police reported.

Government officials estimated that wind and rain in Neuquen and Rio Negro provinces, south of Mendoza, have destroyed at least half of this year's apple and pear crops, which were to have been harvested this month.

Telephone and cable communications with the city were cut off and electrical power was disrupted.

Gov. Eugenio Blanco reported that police, firemen, civil defense workers and soldiers had been organized into rescue teams. Their efforts were hindered by continuing heavy rain through the night.

Mendoza, the center of Argentina's large wine industry, is one of the nation's wealthiest cities, with tree-lined streets and prosperous shops and homes that give it the appearance of a well-to-do Midwestern American city. The surrounding Andean foothills are largely parched desert except for areas irrigated with water from rivers originating in the mountains.

Hurt In Skid

Linda Louise Jachetta, 21, of 130 Bretano Way, Greenbrae, received minor injuries at 8:35 a.m. yesterday when her car skidded and overturned on Highway 101 south of the Waldo Tunnel, the California Highway Patrol reported. Miss Jachetta said she would see her own doctor.

In this age of planned obsolescence, is there a place for a car so unconventional that it may well last for decades?

Mercedes-Benz thinks so.

Mercedes-Benz lavishes such attention on engineering that some people say Mercedes-Benz motor cars are too sophisticated.

And, by conventional standards, they are.

But Mercedes-Benz engineers step to the music of a different drummer. They insist on building margins of performance and safety into their machines to meet the unexpected, as well as the expected. And they stubbornly refuse to design anything just good enough to "get by" for a time—and no better.

That, in essence, is what distinguishes a Mercedes-Benz, what sets it apart from the crowd of conventional cars, bred of conventional standards.

At $4,887, the 220 Diesel may be the world's greatest economy car. Read why.*

An amazing maverick

The automobile at right is a shining example. Mercedes-Benz sells 15 remarkable gasoline-powered models in the U.S.—plus this one, perhaps the most remarkable of all.

It is the legendary Diesel.

This maverick is so defiantly unconventional that it can probably cut your fuel bills in half, eliminate many of your usual repair bills—and is likely to be serving you faithfully when most of today's sleek new dreamboats have been chopped up for scrap.

Not for everyone

To appreciate the Diesel, you first have to understand the idea behind it—and be able to adjust to its three foibles. It is not for every man.

The Diesel is built for people who want an economy car, but who decline to venture onto the highways in a featherweight, cramped machine. If you are willing to pay for the safety and comfort of a big, 3,000-pound sedan, the Diesel will reward you with fuel costs that match the flimsiest little half-pint on the road.

The three Diesel foibles:

First, you cannot hop into this car and roar off in a cloud of dust. The Diesel starts like any other car when its motor is warm. But, in the morning, you must be patient for about 30 seconds while the motor preheats for firing. (A minor nuisance which turns to advantage in winter, enabling you to get underway while others may still be cursing and shivering.)

Second, you must abandon any thought of fireball acceleration. The Diesel will cruise indefinitely at any posted speed limit in America. (Once, it even won the 8,728-mile African Rally!) But, as a dragster, it's a bust.

Third, though the Diesel sounds exactly like an ordinary car when it's moving, you'll detect a vestigial "pocketa" at idle—a slightly bizarre note in a car otherwise so grand.

If you can learn to shrug off an occasional jest about one of these eccentricities, you'll have the last laugh on everybody at the end of each month—year after year.

Cuts fuel bills in half

The Diesel works its incredible fuel economy in two ways.

To begin with, of course, it uses lowly diesel fuel. (In a pinch, it will run on soya-bean oil.) The price of diesel fuel varies from state to state. In almost all states, it is lower than regular gasoline. In some states it costs only half as much.

The Diesel also sips its fuel at a miserly rate. In fact, the engine burns every drop so efficiently that exhaust is virtually smoke-free. A surprise to many.

Now—if you've been resigned to getting 12, 15, 18 miles a gallon from standard sedans, brace yourself.

The new Mercedes-Benz 220 Diesel easily delivers over twenty-five miles to the gallon—and on trips, when you get full benefit of diesel fuel's price advantage over gasoline, you can average 30, 40, even 50 miles for the cost of a gallon of regular!

Many repair costs vanish

More good news. The diesel engine is such a gem of simplicity that it merely dispenses with many parts that normally end up costing you money. It has no spark plugs. No points. No condensers. Not even a carburetor to repair or replace.

It goes and goes and goes

Best of all, this 4-cylinder diesel injection engine is designed to give you uncommonly reliable service—for years.

Not only are there relatively few parts to go amiss, but the parts that are present have been engineered to have characteristic Mercedes-Benz stamina. There's a rugged overhead camshaft and a five-bearing crankshaft. Twelve of the 16 piston rings are coated with expensive molybdenum—an exotic "space age" metal that won't melt below 4,712 degrees.

The ingenious engineers, seeing that valves wore unevenly, designed them to rotate slightly with each stroke, vastly prolonging their life.

Mercedes-Benz does not warrant the Diesel to last for 10 or 20 years. Any car's life depends on how hard it is driven and how carefully it is maintained. But a lifetime measured in decades is no pipe dream, either.

Of the 700,000 Diesels it has built since 1936, Mercedes-Benz estimates that fully 80 percent are still humming along!

First, a Mercedes-Benz

The engine makes this Mercedes-Benz an economy car. But the real value of the Diesel lies not so much in the things that make it different from every other Mercedes-Benz as in the things that make it the same.

Like every Mercedes-Benz, the Diesel is welded into being, not bolted. After 50,000 miles or so, you may begin to wonder if it will ever rattle.

The body is dunked in primer, baked, spray-painted, hand-sanded, sprayed again, then hand-sprayed. Even the insides of the hubcaps are coated. Total paint and primer rust protection: 44 pounds.

Like every Mercedes-Benz, the Diesel bristles with sophisticated, ultra-performance features that are simply unavailable on domestic sedans. All-independent suspension. Taut, recirculating-ball-type steering that gives you the "feel" of the road. Massive, racing-type disc brakes on all four wheels.

It steers, maneuvers and stops as if your life depended on it.

This is one reason why Car and Driver, with a world of cars to choose from, concludes that the current Mercedes-Benz line "represents the present pinnacle in safe car engineering."

Many cars are designed to win admiration for their owners. Mercedes-Benz cars are designed to win admiration from their owners.

Quite a distinction.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

County, And Its Employees, Should Buy In Marin

Back in August, 1968, in retaliation for San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto's commuter tax proposal, Marin County staged a "buy at home" campaign. Members of the Marin County Real Estate Board and Independent Insurance Agents Association of Marin handed out "Buy in Marin" buttons. The county board of supervisors endorsed the campaign. Cities and county issued directives that their own buying be done at home as far as possible.

The commuter tax didn't materialize, and "buy at home" became somewhat forgotten.

THERE ARE, HOWEVER, some for whom buying in Marin would seem always to be important: those whose living is provided by the county's taxpayers. It is hardly fair to expect a commuter who lives in Marin but earns his living in San Francisco to make his major purchases here. But it seems entirely just to expect those whom Marin supports to support Marin.

Most public employees recognize this, we feel sure. But apparently quite a few of them don't. In a recent walk around the employee parking areas at the Civic Center — by no means a complete tour — we noted the following out-of-county license-plate holders on employees' cars:

From San Francisco — Paul Felton, Hughson's (2), Krieger Olds, Reynolds-Seiler, Atlas, Varner-Ward, Babe Zanco, Royal Motors (2), British Motor Car Distributors, Van Ness Dodge, Steward Chevrolet, Fred R. Nichols, Reynolds C. Johnson Co., Van Ness Chrysler-Plymouth, Corona Motors.

From Santa Rosa — Niles Buick, Bishop-Hansel Ford, Comanche Chevrolet.

From Burlingame — Burlingame Motors, Jones-Minto.

From Richmond — Martin Buick, Bay Area Auto Sales.

And these from other places: Berkeley Lee, Albany; Maggini, Berkeley; Rich Motor Co., El Cerrito; Provien Dodge, San Jose; Dailey's, San Leandro; Chiaroni's, Sebastopol — and Ralph's, Downey.

These total 31 out-of-county license plate holders on just part of the cars in the county employees' parking lot. Besides the many with license plate holders of Marin auto dealers, there were, of course, many others with no identification of the seller.

IT WOULD APPEAR that quite a few of the county employees do not feel obligated to spend their money where they make it. An automobile is the largest purchase for most persons, aside from a home.

As to homes, they may be outside the county also for many of these employees. In recent years, the old rules that public employees must live where they are employed have gone by the board.

The ostensible reason has been that it is necessary to hire outside to get "good men." Especially in a county such as Marin, this appears questionable.

Maybe the county should start a "buy in Marin" campaign among its own employees And it might not be a bad idea for it to start with '70s by giving a hard look at the "hire-away" practice. With more than 200,000 residents in Marin, and with an average education level among the highest in the nation, there would seem to be a rather ample employment pool right here.

Full Facts About Involvement Could Prevent Future Vietnams

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — We won't keep out of future Vietnams just by saying "No more Vietnams."

It will take far more than that.

Avoiding another Vietnam will be very uncertain unless we get the full truth — all the truth and nothing but the truth — about how and why we got into this one.

IF YOU ASK a dozen independent, qualified experts why and how things went wrong for the United States in Vietnam, you would probably get: (1) a dozen different answers or (2) a candid statement that nobody has enough facts for an adequate answer.

We must not only bring into the open all the facts from Vietnam, but we must draw the lesson from these facts to avoid future mistakes.

But neither this President nor presidents to come nor the American people can draw the necessary lessons from Vietnam unless they have the necessary facts.

The facts on which future policy can be wisely shaped are nowhere today because they are everywhere, and they soon may be lost in the bureaucratic woodwork and in the fading memory of officials.

THIS IS WHY getting the facts before it is too late to retrieve them is a crucial and urgent necessity.

They need to be collected thoroughly and appraised independently.

To this end we believe President Nixon would be doing himself, his successors and the whole nation a great service by creating a National Commission on the Lessons of Vietnam to assemble and assess the facts.

The first necessity is to assemble the facts of what went on inside the four administrations involved — Eisenhower, Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon. Good information is nine-tenths of good judgment.

The commission should be made up of respected, knowledgeable, diverse men of stature who were not directly involved in making or carrying out Vietnam policy.

IS SUCH a commission needed? We believe that asking the kind of questions the commission should help to answer proves it is needed. Questions such as these:

Did any President ever consciously decide that it was vital to the United States to defend South Vietnam whatever the cost and consequences?

Were the cost and consequences adequately analyzed?

Or did we just slide into war as each President based his decisions in part on the limited actions of his predecessor?

How fully did each administration think through where it was headed, and what was its decision-making process?

How did Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson measure the American national interest in Vietnam and Southeast Asia in order to determine their actions?

Did the military mislead the civilian officials with inaccurate estimates of quick and easy victory?

Was the military informed from the start that they would have to fight a limited war with limited means and that bombing sites in the north would be severely limited?

How thoroughly did the administration examine alternative courses of action?

THIS LAST question is critical. Of the presidential decision-making process of some past administrations, a White House official said recently that the tendency was for advisers to present their preferred choice and two phony choices, and to say that this was the range of options.

It will take a high-caliber National Commission on the Lessons of Vietnam to answer these searching questions — and they sorely need to be answered fully.

The commission's principal work could not begin until the war is over. But vital and early staff work is needed to interview major participants while they are still available and their memories fresh, and to assemble crucial documents before they are lost.

Protecting Children: Negative Approach

I am writing in reference to the article by Bryce W. Anderson in the I-J, Dec. 10, regarding problems in schools involving teachers' morals.

I was distressed at your reference to people with deviate sex habits as "characters." It does not seem likely that anyone would want to have problems of homosexuality or wish to be branded as a sex offender. You make it appear as a problem that can be controlled, not as a sickness as it should be.

You commented on the schools' usual reaction to such situations as a quiet dismissal to avoid bad publicity and the fact that the California Supreme Court was not helping the problem with their lack of support of the California State Board of Education's decisions.

Your answer is to let the police in on suspected cases as well as the responsible school superintendent because the police are not concerned with avoiding publicity, therefore the unfortunate victim would have little if any chance for re-employment.

Your approach is a negative and destructive one. The case you used of the Oakland teacher is a good example. This man was arrested for "annoying children, etc." and publicized to the point where his children were ashamed to go to school and the rest of his family was humiliated. As it turned out, he had a severe brain condition that could account for his behavior and shortly after the incident had a brain tumor removed. I realize such a situation is rare but nevertheless his dignity has been destroyed — by publicity.

Joy In Learning At Christmas School

Thanks, I-J and reporter Joanne Grant, for the fine article on our Christmas School at Drake Hi (sic). Through this voluntary effort of 12 teachers and about 150 students, I believe we learned a little more about making education both more joyful and more effective.

Change is inevitable. One can resist it, or sit back and watch it — but we seek to prepare students for it so that the direction of change can be constructively influenced. To do this, students need judgment and the ability to make wise choices — best learned in a situation where choice is possible.

Pursuit of joy in learning is not "permissiveness." What we have in mind requires a much higher form of discipline than in traditional authoritarian education where all is decreed and no choice is possible.

We adults, products of authoritarian teaching, have failed to solve our most pressing human problems. Our schools must lead in the effort to develop caring, confident, competent people — people who can't destroy what is beautiful, poison the Planet, hurt other people or let his fellow man go hungry.

Indians Find Way To Get Results

Shake up some people enough and you'll get action.

The old cliche, "You can't fight City Hall," is becoming a bit of the past. The Indians on Alcatraz and the Negroes in the ghetto, all have something in common in that they are looking for a change in the so called "establishment." They feel that action is the way to get attention and bring about results. The Indians may not want Alcatraz, but it goes to show their present living conditions. For years they have tried to show the government that they are in need of more land and federal funds and they have been, to the most part, ignored! The government in its stubborn way has failed to act as a responsible institution working for all of the people.

Those who say, "Throw the Indians off Alcatraz," have never really known the Indian's environment — past or present. Consider that the Indians may well have once said, "Throw the white man off our land." The white man fought to take over most of the Indian land and were not so peaceful as the Indians of today. The white man has indeed taken the Indians land and left him with very little. Lets face it. There is a problem here and Uncle Sam now realizes that he cannot push aside the Indian problem as he once did, because now he has the white man as well as the Indian watching.

Wake up Washington, before it's too late.

Deface IBM Cards, Foil Bridge Board

Why not all the commuters should deface their IBM card — just to show the bridge board and Joseph E. Sheeks — along with Michael Wornum the non-commuters — that we do not like their high-handed methods? We have to pay for the bus riders. We who use the car in business see no reason to allow Sheeks and Wornum to pass the toll plaza free.

These people, along with your board of supervisors, are responsible for this raise. The toll takers are getting almost $14,000 a year with all their fringe benefits. What is Wornum getting out of this?

Rafferty Rantings Not Worth Notice

Re: Jim Gilmartin's column on Christmas Eve:

The fact that Dr. (Max) Rafferty's address to the California high school and J.C. athletic directors received little or no mention by the major papers' sports writers might have indicated something to one even less astute than Jim Gilmartin of the I-J. They either didn't consider it newsworthy or were so fed up with hackneyed cliches of "Communist agitators, long-haired freaks," etc., they wouldn't lend credence to Rafferty's statements by setting them to pen. With all of the real problems confronting educators today it's hard to believe that a man with a doctorate in education and state superintendent of schools must resort to name calling and demeaning of students' appearance to make his points. Perhaps both Dr. Rafferty and Mr. Gilmartin could benefit from a basic course in sociology where one is taught that man's appearance as well as hair style, color, ethnic origin, etc., have no effect on either his mental ability or physical prowess. The fact remains, in spite of the gentlemen's allegations, that today's athletes are better informed and more concerned with social problems and still are turning in better performances and setting new records.

Social Workers Attack Fraud Report Before It Is Completed

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — It's most amusing to watch the progress of the controversy churned up by the Social Workers Union, AFL-CIO, over a report of fraud in the collection of welfare payments — a report which hasn't even been completed as yet.

Somewhere along the line, the word got out that the report, when it was made, would contain evidence that cheating in the aid to needy families program would reach the level of from 30 to 40 per cent.

THE SOCIAL WORKERS Union undoubtedly is proceeding on the theory that when its members' activities may be thrown open to criticism, it is better to launch a counterattack before the facts are available for bolstering the main attack. This is an old strategy which the people of the state are getting used to, and as a result, are inclined to take with a grain of salt, if they take it at all.

Citizens throughout the state, the citizens who put up the tax money to support thousands of people capable of making a living, realize there are questionable practices in the dispensing of welfare, practices which are costing the state's taxpayers millions of dollars annually.

They realize the payment of these unnecessary amounts of money may or may not be illegal, and wonder at times how the members of the Social Workers Union, who administer the program, can condone the purchase of such items as color televisions for welfare recipients with public money.

SPENCER WILLIAMS, state human relations agency secretary, says he finds it hard to believe the cheating level would reach 40 per cent of the total paid out, which runs to more than $300 million a year.

He said he couldn't believe the rank and file social worker would be so lax as to permit such a situation to exist. However, the rank and file social worker is the individual which makes up the Social Workers Union, AFL-CIO, and this is the organization which is criticizing the report before it is written.

THE FACT is that information concerning the administration of welfare is long overdue. Also investigation into the stories both of fraud and allegations of what might be fraud and improper allowances is long overdue.

For nearly 40 years, the public has seen the extension of the welfare program from the breadlines of the depression to the point where the taxpayer is supporting recipients who can make it better on welfare than by working fr a living.

It would appear, then, that the social workers who have aided these advances should not object to any type of investigation which might result in returning the program to more sensible and economical proportions.

Humphrey Set To Enter Race For Senate Seat

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Hubert Humphrey will definitely make his long-awaited announcement for the Senate later this month.

While the exact timing is still undecided, the former vice president has bowed to the insistent urging of political intimates that he wait no longer to formally declare his candidcay for the seat being relinquished by Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

Humphrey wanted to wait until February, or even later. But close advisers argued strongly against that.

UNABLE TO DIRECTLY oppose Humphrey, the "peacenik" and other antis are concentrating their fire on one of his closest personal and political intimates — Rep. John Blatnik.

The tall World War II decorated veteran has represented the Eighth (Iron Range) District since 1946. He is chairman of the House Public Works Committee, and chairman of the government operations subcommittee dealing with air and other pollution.

The opposition is determinedly out to get him this year, and he is apperently in trouble.

Their candidate is William Ojala, an attorney and county commissioner in Blatnik's district. A strident MCarthyite and ultra liberal, he ran against Blatnik two years ago but lost badly.

Indicative of the gravity of Blatnik's predicament is a backstage report stating bluntly, "There is a very real possibility he will not be endorsed by his own party for re-election."

POLITICALS — Mrs. Ethel Kennedy, widow of the assassinated New York senator, is turning a deaf ear to all overtures to enter politics. She is saying flatly she has no desire or intention to run for anything . . . Since former UN Ambassador Arthur Goldberg announced he was not a senatorial aspirant, supporters of Sen. Eugene McCarthy have started taking soundings in New York State on his prospects of capturing delegates to the democratic nominating convention. In political circles, it is assumed this is being done with the full knowledge and approval of McCarthy . . . Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., makes no bones he has his eye on the 1972 Democratic vice presidential nomination.

Hall Of Justice Has Improvements Over Earlier Wing Of Building

The new Hall of Justice wing at the Civic Center has several improvements over the old administration building.

Most noticeable is the temperature difference, especially when you walk through the basement floor of the older building into the second floor of the new building. The ground floor of the old structure, which gets outside air directly through the open iron gates in front of the escalator, is freezing cold in the mornings. But the moment you step over the partition into the Hall of Justice building, you are hit with air about 10 degrees warmer.

The doors along the hallways of the Hall of Justice swing both in and out. In the older building, even the old timers would push instead of pull and vice versa. We've seen many a visitor pull on a door, then give up, thinking it was locked.

The hallways and stairways in the new building seem wider. One reason why the doors swung only inward in the older building was that the aisles are narrow. A door swinging out into the aisles would leave little room for people to walk.

SOMEBODY recently suggested that when and if the county purchases McNear's Beach in East San Rafael for a county bayfront park, it be named in honor of the late Ada Fusselman of San Anselmo.

For a bout a year now, the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission has been suggesting that a major bayfront park, either at China Camp or McNear's Beach, be named in memory of the late Caroline S. Livermore.

The consensus on the Marin County Board of Supervisors seems to be that the name of Mrs. Fusselman would be more appropriate for some new building at the College of Marin because she was a long-time college trustee.

IT'S A PRETTY good bet that North Marin Supervisor William A. Gnoss will not run for re-election this year.

Gnoss hasn't announced either way, but there are some good indicators. Both M. E. (Babe) Silva and Arnold Baptiste have made it quite plain they wouldn't want to oppose Gnoss if he wants another term. The fact that Silva and Baptiste are sounding more and more like active candidates would indicate that Gnoss might be bowing out after 16 years.

Veteran Director Is Found Slain

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — Robert B. Sinclair, the veteran director who was the first to stage "The Philadelphia Story" and "The Postman Always Rings Twice," on Broadway, has been stabbed to death in his home.

Arraignment was pending for Billy McCoy Hunter, 25, of nearby Isle Vista, booked for investigation of murder and burglary after he was arrested inside Sinclair's luxurious home.

Sinclair was found Saturday night stabbed once in the chest.

Sinclair, 64, directed movies for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in the 1940s and '50s including "Mr. and Mrs. North," "Women Against Women" and "Call of Borneo." He had been inactive in recent years.

Nixon Relaxes At Posh Palm Springs Home

PALM SPRINGS (AP) — With major budget decisions behind him, President Richard M. Nixon relaxed today at a posh estate in this desert resort community.

Accompanied by Mrs. Nixon and their daughter Tricia, the President flew by helicopter yesterday morning to the luxurious vacation home of Walter H. Annenberg, U.S. ambassador to Britain.

Relaxation was Nixon's principal objective, although he brought along a briefcase filled with papers. Two key aides, Chief of Staff H. R. Haldeman and Appointments Secretary Dwight Chapin, are staying nearby.

Although Nixon continues to prepare for his Jan. 22 State of the Union message to Congress, he announced Saturday he had completed all major decisions on the budget he will send to Congress late in the month for the 1971 fiscal year that begins July 1.

The Palm Springs weather was pleasant and sunny but not appreciably warmer than in seaside San Clemente 100 miles west where Nixon has been spending most of his New Year's holiday in his own home.

Yesterday's high was 60 degrees, virtually the same as in the San Clemente area.

The chief executive spent most of yesterday afternoon in the modern-style Annenberg home, which is reported to have more than 30,000 square feet of living space.

Gold Jewelry, 4,000 Years Old, Is Found

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The discovery of a huge treasure of solid gold jewelry more than 40 centuries old and worth millions of dollars has been revealed by a woman archeologist.

Emily Vermeule said the hoard of ancient gold was found in what apparently was "a single wealthy burial" near a coastal mound on the Aegean Sea, although she did not pinpoint the exact location.

Among the 137 pieces of jewelry are heavy bracelets, delicate rosettes and lunettes, a three-strand necklace of twisted gold wire, numerous rings and hair ornaments with dangling chains.

One 18-karat bracelet with the figure of a lion at each end weighs more than half a pound, Mrs. Vermeule said.

A large gold Egyptian cylinder seal found with the treasure is of particular archeological interest, she said. A translation of carvings on the seal indicates it belonged to an Egyptian official who lived about 2,400 years before the birth of Christ.

The archeologist speculated that the owner of the gold jewelry was probably a princess of the early bronze age who was buried literally "covered with gold." How the Egyptian seal came to be with the treasure is not known, she added.

However, the presence of the seal definitely shows that there was contact between Egypt in the fifth Dynasty and people in the northern Aegean region of Greece and Turkey.

Mrs. Vermeule, professor of art and Greek at Wellesley College in Massachusetts, said the gold treasure was acquired by the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston last year.

But its discovery was first made public when Mrs. Vermeule showed photographs of the jewelry to a meeting of the American Institute of Archeology in San Francisco.

The museum has estimated the value of the treasure in the millions of dollars, Mrs. Vermeule said, but the exact price paid for the gold on the international art market is not known.

She said the Aegean gold can in a way be seen as replacing the fabled gold treasure of ancient Troy, which was lost in the chaos of World War II.

The Trojan gold was discovered in the 19th Century by the German archeologist Heinrich Schliemann, who gave it to the Berlin Museum. It was sent to East Germany during the war and later disappeared, presumed by some to have been seized by the Russians, Mrs. Vermeule said.

Exhibit Planned

Paintings by Mill Valley artist Bette Klopf and watercolors by James Windle will be exhibited at the Lucien Labaudt Art Gallery at 1407 Gough Street, San Francisco, Friday to Feb. 6.

Florida has one highway patrolman for every 160 miles of highway.

Van Dyke Oil Is Recovered

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Van Dyke's painting "Drunken Bacchus," reported stolen in Vienna last fall, was recovered in a Frankfurt hotel over the weekened and two men were taken into custody, police said today.

Hesse state police said their agents accompanied a man who had gone to the hotel early last Saturday under the pretense of wanting to buy the painting for the asking price of $33,533. The painting actually is worth nearly 10 times as much.

They added they were investigating whether the two men seized with the painting at the hotel were directly connected with its theft from an Austrian insurance company executive.

Names were not disclosed.

Fairfax Park Use To Be Discussed

New rules governing after-sunset use of Peri Memorial Park will be discussed at tomorrow's meeting of the city's parks and recreation commission, set for 8 p.m. in the Fairfax Women's Club.

The city council has asked the commission to come up with regulations for after-dark use of the park.

Installation Set

New officers of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce will be installed at a dinner-dance Jan. 24 at Bob's of Marin. A cocktail hour at 7 p.m. will precede dinner at 8 p.m.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON MULTIPLE LISTING . . .

WILL I BE ABLE TO SET THE SELLING PRICE ON MY HOME IF I LIST IT IN MULTIPLE LISTING?

Of course you may set the price on your own home! However, professionally trained assistance is available to you in the appraisal of your home and in determining a fair and realistic price in tune with today's market when you list your home for sale with any one of the members of the Marin County Real Estate Board.

The advantage of listing your home with a member of the Marin County Real Estate Board is teamwork! The combined talent and knowledge of a large, energetic sales force is working for you as soon as you list your home for sale or enter the home buying market . . . and this time-saving service does not cost you a penny more!

Hopes Dim For Five Climbers

WEST GLACIER, Mont. (AP) — Bitterly cold weather around 10,400-foot Mount Cleveland dimmed hopes today for five mountain climbers missing since Friday.

The Montana youths hiked into northern Montana's Glacier National Park on Dec. 27 and were to have returned Friday afternoon.

The climbers were Clare Probgreba and Ray Martin, both 22, of Butte; Mark Levitan, 20, of Helena; Jerry Kanzler, 18, of Bozeman; and James Anderson, 18, of Big Fork.

Dan Nelson, a spokesman of the National Park Service, said chances of finding them alive were getting slimmer.

Curtis Institute Founder Succumbs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mrs. Efrem Zimbalist Sr., founder of the Curtis Institute of Music and daughter of the founder of Curtis Publishing Co., died yesterday. She was 93. She was the wife of concert violinist Efrem Zimbalist Sr., who retired a few years ago, and step-mother of Efrem Zimbalist Jr., star of the TV series "The FBI."

In 1924, she founded and endowed with $12.5 million the music institute as a memorial to her mother, Louisa Knapp Curtis, editor of Ladies Home Journal from 1883 to 1889.

Coast Trustees Set Session On Plans

The Bolinas-Stinson School District board will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Bolinas School to continue studying plans for development of the school campus with architect Richard Borgstrom.

The board also will consider new methods of garbage disposal to meet the burning ban, and will receive a report on the seventh and eighth grade programs for the second semester.

Passenger Injured

Michel Ospital, 40, of San Francisco suffered facial cuts and a broken nose when a car in which he was a passenger, driven by Desiderio Lopez, 42, of 143 Jewell Street, collided at Second and Lindaro streets at 7:45 a.m. Saturday with one driven by Michell Courtz, 20, of 89 Scenic Place, Fairfax, police reported.

Chiefs' Stram Calls Vikings 'Packers In Disguise'

JIM GILMARTIN

'Credit The Defense,' Shouts Reg Carolan

"Happy New Year! Give the credit to our defense. They worked their tails off for this. They've been doing a helluva job all year and we caught them and beat them at their own game. Now, if our offense ever puts it all together it will be devastating."

Thus shouted Reg Carolan of Novato over the din of the celebrants in the riotous dressing room of the Kansas City Chiefs yesterday after they whipped the Oakland Raiders for the American Football League championship.

Tight end for Kansas City until a leg injury sidelined him for the year in an early season exhibition, Carolan has remained with the Chiefs all season and will go to the Super Bowl, as a spectator, receiving one-half of all post-season bonuses. Yesterday, for example, he earned $3,500 while the active Chiefs got $7,000 each.

"Whew! I must have lost five pounds out there today," sais the Drake High School graduate who teaches school in Marin during the off season. "I really did a lot of jumping around on the sidelines."

Aaron Brown, Big And Fast

The big redhead, nattily attired in black and white checkered slacks, blue shirt and Kansas City's traditional black blazer, pointed to a nearby dressing cubicle where defensive end Aaron Brown was undressing. "Look at him, he's fantastic," said Reg. "He's 265, 6-5 and can do the 100 in 9.6 or 9.7. He's coming of age."

Carolan said Kansas City's rush on Oakland quarterback Daryle Lamonica was the big difference in the 17-7 score: "I've never seen him rushed so much. Also, when he got hurt it seemed to hurt the Raiders psychologically and the whole tide turned in our favor. When he came back it looked to be a case of ill timing on their part and better timing for our defensive backs. We found that illusive thing called momentum. We tried to give it back to them (on fumbles) but they wouldn't take it."

What was the key play in the game? "Well, a game like this has many big plays and it has to turn on a break. One of the breaks was that pass interference call."

Carolan referred to the third quarter penalty against Raider cornerback Nemiah Wilson on Otis Taylor that gained 25 yards to the Oakland seven just before the go-ahead touchdown.

That's Going Back Few Semesters

Matt Hazeltine, Tam High grad, retired 49er linebacker and now a TV sportscaster, overheard the remark and mentioned that the 49ers had been "burned a lot all year on those interference calls."

Carolan said: "Funny, seeing Matt here today. I can remember watching him play at Tam when I was in grammar school (Isabel Cook School) in San Anselmo." That was about 20 years ago.

Asked about the two regular season losses to Oakland, Carolan said: "This is the game that counted. Sure, we didn't like losing to them but we knew we'd be playing them here today for the championship. We don't like looking beyond one game at a time, but this is what we were pointing to all the time, subconsciously, I guess. This is what it's all about."

Carolan, whose wife Judy came to the game from Kansas City and will go to next Sunday's Super Bowl, said he's looking forward to his first trip to New Orleans and his second time at the Super Bowl. Appraising Kansas City's foe, the Minnesota Vikings, he said: "They have an awesome record. They're awfully tough and are riding high right now. We beat them last year but that was last year. They have a different spirit this year. They're well-balanced and give 100 per cent effort all the time."

Different Brand Of Football

A member of Kansas City's team that lost to Green Bay in the first Super Duper in 1967, Carolan said: 'We'll approach the game with an entirely different attitude from a standpoint of mental and physical preparation. This is the NFL we'll be facing — a different brand of football."

Using a quaint smile, Big Red smiled: "It's a new challenge. Like going out with a new girls or having a new baby around the house. It will be a delightful experience. I just wish I could play — to hold up my end of the bargain."

Carolan has worked with the team daily since he recovered from knee surgery, though remains ineligible to play until next season.

Any special preparation for the Super Bowl? "It all boils down to the old basics — of knocking people down. The fundamentals are just as important in the Super Bowl as they are in, say, the Tam-Drake game. I've always remembered the fundamentals taught me by Bob Troppmann at Drake. They're invaluable. You don't forget them. You can't."

Carolan, 30, said he, Judy and 20-month-old daughter Courtney will pack up immediately after the Super Bowl and return to San Marin. "It'll be good to get home and start teaching again. I haven't done much the past few months."

Carolan waved a big paw around the dressing room: "It's an honor to be a member of this club. They're real pros. They'll do okay against Minnesota."

'It's An Honor,' Says Reg

Whatever the Chiefs do, Carolan will be well paid for his moral support. Each member of the winning team will receive an additional $15,000 while the losers will get $7,500.

Half of that is better than half of nothing. Ask the Raiders.

Lightning Can Strike Twice; Just Ask Daryle Lamonica

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

Who says lightning doesn't strike twice?

Daryle Lamonica of the Oakland Raiders and Aaron Brown of the Kansas City Chiefs dispelled that old adage yesterday on the key play and turning point in the Chief's upset 17-7 victory in the American Football League's championship game.

In the morgue-like dressing room afterwards, the disconsolate Lamonica held up his passing hand to bare the bruises that benched him for eight minutes in the third quarter and seriously affected his passing the rest of the way as the Chiefs rallied to their victory before a record Oakland Coliseum crowd of 54,544 fans.

ON HELMET

"I thought I broke it (the hand)," said the AFL's most valuable player. "I hit it on Brown's helmet on the follow through of a pass."

Ironically, Lamonica injured the same hand, the same way on Brown's helmet during the exhibition season.

"Lightning strikes twice," someone offered and Lamonica smiled weakly.

Prior to the injury yesterday, Lamonica had completed 12 of 22 passes but after he returned to the game he was only 4 for 17 with three interceptions that really killed the Raiders.

The former Notre Dame star tried to avoid blaming the injury on his poor showing late in the game after the Raider defense repeatedly came up with big and opportunistic fumble recoveries. "It didn't hurt," said Daryle, "but I did feel it some on the snapback." Pressed further, he admitted "I didn't have (throwing the ball) what I wanted on it."

Lamonica praised Kansas City's tremendous pass rush led by Brown as more of a factor than the injury. "In other games they came at me from the outside and I could step inside to throw," the quarterback explained, "but today they were coming hard inside, too." He ate the ball four times.

Asked why, then, he didn't consider rolling outside on pass-

A Super Time For K.C.

OAKLAND (AP) — The way Coach Hank Stram feels about it, the Minnesota Vikings his Kansas City Chiefs will meet in Sunday's Super Bowl game may very well be the Green Bay Packers in disguise.

Stram's memories of the Packers are colored by the passage of time and the reflections on the Green Bay team that whipped his Chiefs 35-10 three years ago in the first Super Bowl game. But Stram does remember, and he does find resemblances in the Vikings.

ALIKE

"In a lot of respects they are very much alike," Stram said after his Chiefs had gained entry to pro football's premier event with a 17-7 victory over Oakland. "Both teams have simplicity approach and execute very well.

"They don't do a lot of things —but what they do, they do well."

As for his own Chiefs, Stram said frankly:

"I dont think there's any comparisons. Our team is much better than the 1966 team. We're much better defensively."

That improvement is reflected in the fact that only four defensive starters remain from those Super Bowl losers and it was reflected on the floor of Oakland Coliseum yesterday as the Chief's defense played the key role in bringing Kansas City the American Football League championship.

PASS RUSH

They put on a furiously fierce pass rush on Oakland quarterback Daryle Lamonica that forced him out of the game at one point with jammed fingers on his throwing hand and dumped him four times for losses and so harassed him that he had three passes intercepted.

And, after the Chiefs had sputtered to a 17-7 lead, the defensive unit four times stopped the Raiders inside the Kansas City 40 in the fourth quarter when any successful offensive thrust by Lamonica might have changed the momentum of the teams and the result of the game.

"Our great desire — our will to win — was expressed by our defensive line," said Stram as he stood in the Chief dressing room, resplendent in his Kansas City traveling uniform, a black jacket with the Chief crest — and his ever-present red vest.

DEFENSE

"We were a very tight offensive club at the beginning. The defense kept us in the game."

They did for the first 27 minutes, limiting Oakland to a 7-0 lead on Charley Smith's three-yard run following a 24-yard pass to Warren Wells, the fleet raider receiver who played despite a shoulder separation suffered three weeks ago.

Then the Chiefs broke the first of two important offensive plays Stram singled out as the keys to the victory.

With the ball on the Oakland 42, quarterback Len Dawson sent Frank Pitts straight down the sidelines for a 41-yard pass that defender Nemiah Wilson couldn't break up. Wendell Hayes smashed the final yard on the next play and Jan Stenerud's conversion made it 7-7.

GREAT LIFT

"The play to Pitts provided us with a great lift," said Stram, "and we were in dire need of it. We were tight offensively but I felt if we could get untracked we could relieve the pressure."

The pressure was there again,

VICTORIOUS VIKES

Kapp Praises His Offensive Mates

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (UPI)—The "Purple People Eaters" are great and scare opponents, all right, but take it from the Minnesota Vikings, the unsung castoffs who make up their offensive line are the reason they've earned a berth in next Sunday's Super Bowl game against Kansas City.

"They were the difference," declared Viking quarterback Joe Kapp after yesterday's 27-7 rout of the Cleveland Browns in icy, snow-rimmed Metropolitan Stadium for the National Football League championship.

HOT HAND

The scar-faced, 31-year-old Kapp operated behind that offensive line with a hot hand on a cold day, running for one touchdown and passing for another. In addition to a TD by Dave Osborn, the other Viking points came on 30 and 32-yard field goals by Freddie Cox.

The offensive line sprung Osborn and others loose for 222 rushing yards; while the Browns were able to run for only 97 against the "People Eaters," the celebrated front four of the Viking defense that Browns' Coach Blanton Collier was ready to admit today "is probably the best front four in football."

UNKNOWNS

In contrast to the "Eaters," the offensive line has gone almost without notice this year. And small wonder —it includes two men who were signed originally as free agents (Nick Tingelhoff and Jim Vellone), one who was a 20th-round draft choice (Milt Sunde), one who is the only remaing Viking from the original expansion team of 1961 (Grady Aldercan) and oh yes, one man who was a bonus draft choice (Ron Yary).

On Sunday, these are the men who will be asked to throw back that Kansas City defensive line, led by 6-9 Buck Buchanan, that riddled the Oakland Raiders in yesterday's 17-7 American Football League championship triumph.

QUICKLY

The Vikings struck quickly for a 14-0 lead in the first period, both times taking advantage of plays on which Brown pass defenders fell down. First it was Walt Sumner flopping on the hard turf, enabling end Gene Washington to snare a 33-yard pass from Kapp, and setting up a 7-yard touchdown run by Kapp four plays later.

Then, on a third-down play that broke the game open, Brown defender Erich Barnes tumbled and Washington was left all alone at midfield to catch another pass and com-

Dizzy Dean Helping In Gambling Arrests

DETROIT (AP) — Federal authorities said today information from former major league baseball pitcher Dizzy Dean led to three arrests yesterday in the federal investigation of an alleged nationwide gambling ring.

A fourth man was arrested Saturday at his New York apartment, said Jeremy Zimmerman, a member of the U.S. attorney general's task force investigating organized crime.

A total of 14 have been arrested.

Arrested yesterday at Biloxi, Miss., were Peter J. "PJ" Martino, 47; his brother, Warren L. "Wimpy" Martino, 44, and Salvatore "Sammie" Sicuro, 64, Zimmerman said. All were named in warrants charging them with violation of interstate wagering laws. About $5,000 in cash was seized, Zimmermann said.

Arrested on the same charge in New York was David Miller, 62, said Zimmermann, adding that federal agents making the arrest took several phone calls at Miller's apartment. Zimmermann said the calls will be used as evidence in subsequent actions.

"The Biloxi arrests were made possible from information gained in part from Jerome "Dizzy" Dean," Zimmermann said. "It seems that Mr. Dean is fully cooperating with federal authorities at this time."

Zimmermann said Dean, a former St. Louis Cardinals star, was apparently "victimized and utilized by various elements in the bookmaking world . . . without his knowledge."

Dean's Las Vegas hotel room was searched on New Year's Day by federal agents but Dean was not arrested.

Dean said he was questioned about some people, but that "I can't be involved in it because I don't know anything about it."

An acquaintance of the former pitcher and sportscaster, Fritz Lindstrom of Phoenix, Ariz., was arrested in Las Vegas on the same day.

Nine other arrests were made that day in Michigan. All 10 arrested Jan. 1 were charged with using interstate communication facilities for gambling and with conspiring to violate federal gambling laws. They were freed on bond.

When the 10 were arrested, a federal spokesman said statements and records seized "indicate a national scheme involving famous figures in baseball and football and hundreds of trainers and jockeys at race tracks."

Marin Tars Lose League Cage Opener

"They beat us on the boards, that's all there was to it."

College of Marin basketball coach John Panagakis was talking about the Tars' Camino Norte Conference opener at Campbell High School against West Valley Junior College Saturday, and it's a cinch it wasn't a winner.

Turned out to be a frustrating 78-66 loss, mainly because the Tars did not control either the offensive or defensive boards, despite trailing by only 36-31 at the half.

"We just couldn't close it up," Panagakis said. "We knew what we should have done, but we just didn't do it. They outboarded us."

The Tars did get great work from center Pat Schafer, who poured in 22 points, including 10 of 11 free throws, and guard Daryl Ravani, who hit for 20 points. But forward Tom Seidenberg and Bob Tait got only seven points between them.

The Tars are now 8-6 on the season.

Seals Back From Black Road Trip

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland's Seals are back home after a disasterous road trip in which they won only once and tied only once in seven National Hockey League games.

The 16 - day trip ended yesterday in Madison Square Garden where the Seals lost by 5-2 to the New York Rangers who lead the league's East division.

Oakland, now in fifth place in the West division, will meet the East's second place Boston club here Wednesday.

Against the Rangers, the Seals points were scored by Carol Vadnais and Gerry Ehman.

Vic Hadfield scored twice for the Rangers who also got points from Dave Balon, Donnie Marshall and Bill Fairbairn.

Texas' Mighty Wishbone Will Be Broken In Half

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas' wishbone will be broken in half next year.

The loss of quarterback James Street, the fourth down magician, and halfback Ted Koy, a top pro prospect, will make it especially tough for Texas Coach Darryl Royal's Longhorns to repeat as the national champions of college football.

"You are always hopeful of a repeat," said Royal, "but the odds are so heavily against that kind of thing. It's a frustrating feeling when you know it's only one way to go. I don't want to sound like a defeatist, but you've got to be a realist."

Royal, coach at Texas since 1957, directed the school's first national champion in 1963 and missed out the next year when the Longhorns gambled on a two-point conversion and lost to Arkansas, 14-13, for Texas' only defeat.

This season Royal gambled—not once, not twice but three times—in the final do-or-die games against Arkansas and Notre Dame and it paid off each time, giving the Longhorns the national title.

The Associated Press' final poll of sportswriters and sportscasters, after the Jan. 1 bowl games, made Texas the No. 1 team in the nation with 37 first place votes and a total of 910 points.

Penn State was No. 2 with seven first place votes and 822 points. Two voters split their top choice between Texas and Penn State, and two others selected Ohio State, No. 1 all year until upset by Michigan in its final game.

Southern Cal finished third; Ohio State was fourth; Notre Dame climbed from ninth to fifth after losing to Texas, 21-17, in the final 68 seconds in the Cotton Bowl; Missouri remained sixth despite its 10-3 loss to Penn State in the Orange Bowl; Arkansas fell from third to seventh after Mississippi whipped the Razorbacks 27-22 in the Sugar Bowl, Mississippi leaped from 13th to eighth; Michigan dropped from seventh to ninth after losing to Southern Cal 10-3 in the Rose Bowl; and Louisiana State, which did not play in a bowl, was shifted from eighth to No. 10.

For the Browns, who now have lost seven times in 11 NFL title games, it was a bitter defeat.

Brown quarterback Bill Nelsen's failure to pass affectively — he missed seven of his first eight — was a major factor in the defeat. And a major factor in that was that his passing arm was injured early in the game when he was decked by onrushing Viking end Jim Marshall.

PLAYOFF BOWL

Pro Grid's Infamous Stepchild Is Dead

MIAMI (AP)—Pro football's most infamous stepchild is dead. Roman Gabriel gave the 10-year-old NFL Playoff Bowl a four-bomb salute and the Dallas Cowboys stood around as pallbearers.

If there was any reason for the National Football League's backdoor classic it was $1.25 million funneled into the players' pension fund during the 1960s. But, after a decade as a haven for championship playoff losers, the misnamed event is no more.

31,151 FANS

Los Angeles clobbered the Cowboys 31-0 Saturday as 31,151 fans braved a rainstorm to see the mighty Gabriel throw a wet ball for touchdowns of 67, 49, 35 and 16 yards.

The NFL's contract with the sponsoring Orange Bowl Committee ran out Saturday, but the Miami group wants more. A spokesman said the group would like to match runners up of the American and National conferences after the NFL merges with the American Football League next season.

Gabriel's efforts earned $1,200 for each Ram. The Dallas troops made $500 a head. Both teams could only dream about the $25,000 due the Minnesota-Kansas City victor in next week's Super Bowl in New Orleans.

"I had no excuses, it's just the second part of a bad dream," said Craig Morton, the Dallas quarterback. The first act was a 38-14 loss to Cleveland in the NFL semifinals.

Coach Tom Landry said Dallas' ineffectiveness on scoring drives left little doubt what was ahead. "When you get down close on two or three occasions and can't even salvage a field goal, there's not much more you can expect than a 31-0 licking," he said.

Mike Clark blew field goals from only 16 and 22 yards for the Cowboys.

Los Angeles took a more positive approach to the affair. It was somewhat like dancing with your sister, but the Rams at least pretended it was a pretty sister.

WINNING START

"It gives us a winning start for next summer's training camp," s aid massive Deacon Jones, voted the game's top defensive player.

"We lost the big one against Minnesota, but at least we're packing and heading home winners."

Two of Gabriel's touchdown throws were to former Notre Dame star Jack Snow. He made a brilliant fingertip grab on a 67-yard pitch and eluded the Dallas secondary on a 49-yarder. The others went for 35 yards to running back Les Josephson on a screen pass and for 16 yards to rookie tight end Bob Klein.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

If you are a spot bowler, be a spot bowler. This means you should watch the spot out on the lanes that you are aiming at until the ball has passed the point illustrated today. Don't get into the habit of watching the ball all the way, because you won't know whether you hit your spot or not. After the ball has gone half-way down the lane, there will be plenty of time to raise your eyes and watch what happens to the pins.

Former pro basketball star Neil Johnston is in his fourth season as freshman coach at Wake Forest.

LAMONICA

es, the handsome, seven-year pro veteran retaliated: "If you do that you defeat your purpose. You don't win in pro football that way. Besides, I'm not a roll-out quarterback. They just beat us with a superior performance. Give them credit. Our defense gave us the opportunities but we just couldn't capitalize on it."

PRESSURE

Over in the delirious Kansas City dressing room, Coach Hank Stram agreed that his front four pressured Lamonica something awful. "Lamonica is a deliberate thrower," said Stram. "He doesn't get the ball off quickly like (Joe) Namath. We felt we had to try to change his tempo by putting on the pressure.

"The turnovers (total of four interceptions) were the difference. Our defense did a fantastic job for us, expecially in pressure situations where we had to get the ball back."

Stram also explained the quick rush on Lamonica enabled the Chiefs' three linebackers to drop off on pass coverage, making it easier for the defensive backs.

Brown appeared to be Lamonica's main tormentor. Tackle Bob Svihus, whose job it was to stop the Kansas City defensive end, acknowledged that "brown never did that well against me before."

LOW SNAPS

Oakland blew two third quarter opportunities to break a 7-7 halftime tie on field goals that appeared within kicker George Blanda's range, but both tries were wide to the right. "The snaps from center were low both times," the graying veteran explained, "and that threw our timing off."

Kansas Citians cited two big plays that turned the tide in their favor. The first was a 41-yard Len Dawson to Frank Pitts sidelines pass that set up the tying TD in the second period and the second was Dawson's 35-yarder to Otis Taylor from his own end zone that ignited a 94-yard TD drive in the third period. "We were awfully tense offensively and I felt that if we could get untracked we could relieve it. Those plays seemed to do the trick."

LOOK AHEAD

Stram also said the Chiefs weren't thinking of past performances in which they lost seven out of eight games to the Raiders. "If you're going to be successful you can't dwell on the past. We didn't talk about the losses."

Kansas City Gets Ready For Vikings

however, midway of the third quarter when Dawson went back to pass with a third-and-14 situation on his own two yard line and was chased into the end zone by the Oakland defense, arching a pass down the sidelines to Otis Taylor just before he was reached.

Otis wasn't the primary receiver," Dawson explained. "I was looking for Robert Holmes across the middle but he got banged. I couldn't wait much longer so I threw it so it would have gone out of bounds if he didn't catch it."

Taylor caught it — and he caught it in bounds, making a brilliant over the head grab for 35 yards that took the Chiefs out of trouble and started a drive that didn't end until the goal line had been crossed by Holmes on a five-yard run.

FIELD GOAL

Stenerud later added a field goal, but it was out of reach at that point as it turned out.

Lamonica was subjected to a brutal pass rush by defensive end Aaron Brown that resulted in his jamming three fingers on his throwing hand.

George Blanda came in to replace him and had a pass intercepted by Emmitt Thomas in the end zone that cut off the drive. Dawson then hitched up the Chief offense, connected on a key pass to Taylor and put the Chiefs ahead to stay.

Lamonica sat out one more series before returning, but was unable to get the Raiders a score.

"I didn't lose the authority," said Lamonica, "but I didn't have the zing on my follow-through."

NO EXCUSES

"The last thing we do would be to make excuses," said Oakland Coach John Madden. "We win or lose as a team. I'm sure Daryle's hand bothered him. It was hurt. But it's no excuse. The thing that led to our downfall was breaks.

"We didn't take advantage of them. They did, and they should be complimented."

It was, of course, hard to blame the defeat on anything but the Kansas City defense, which made a slight adjustment that may have made the difference. The ends, Brown and Jerry Mays, decided to change their movements after noting their lack of success in two previous losses this season.

INSIDE

"Aaron and myself took more inside pass rushes than we've ever taken before," said Mays. "We asked for permission to do that and the coaches conferred and approved. We felt Lamonica didn't mind outside pressure but was bothered by inside pressure."

DECATHLON CHAMP

Toomey Talks About Retiring

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Bill Toomey has his world decathlon record and a new bride, so it's easy for him to start talking about retiring.

He did today, following his easy victory Saturday night in the first ever indoor pentathlon at the San Francisco Examiner All-American track and field games at the Cow Palace.

Holding the pentathlon indoors was Toomey's idea, and it proved a popular one with a crowd of almost 10,000, as the contestants, some of America's best decathloners and Britain's Barry King, went through their events, which followed the first day's schedule in the decathlon.

When it was all over Toomey had won four of the five events and piled up 3,995 points, 414 more than runnerup George Pannel.

TIRED

Toomey responded to a long hand from the crowd, then said:

"I feel a little tired. I was married just a little while ago and that hasn't helped my training any. There are a lot of things to consider but this could be my last competition.

"I don't like to think about retiring," Toomey, who is 31, went on. "But you have to set yourself on what you want to do. I'm going to have to consider some business offers and then make up my mind."

Toomey's performance was the most significant in the All-American games, although Olympians John Carlos, Lee Evans, Willie Davenport and Ron Whitney scored impressive victories.

DOUBLE

Carlos won the 60 yard dash in six seconds flat and the 300 yards in 31.5; Evans gained recenge on Curtis Mills by beating the Texas A&M youngster in the 440 in the good time of 48.6; Davenport took the high hurdles in seven seconds flat, and Whitney won the 600 dash in 1:11.3.

Bob Seagren, the world indoor record holder at 17-6, lost out to Sam Caruthers in the pole vault, conducted for the first time under a new system—suggested by Seagren.

Each vaulter in the competition was given just six vaults—at any height he chose. Seagren sailed 17 feet even on his first attempt, then missed once at 17-3 and four times at 17-6. Caruthers did 16-6 on his first try, 17 on the second and missed four times at 17-3.

Marin 'Cats Triumph; Tam Loses

The way things have been going for Marin Catholic High School's basketball team, a victory is just as good as a long winning streak.

The Wildcats, 3-11 on the season, won a game Saturday night, whipping Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park, 66-53, but they have yet to win two in a row in the season.

Tamalpais, fading lately, didn't come close Saturday, as the Indians dropped a 73-50 verdict to hot and cold Petaluma, at Petaluma.

For Marin Catholic, it was sophomore Tim Stone who showed the way with 21 points. Guard Ken Gommeringer topped Tamalpais with 15 points, but game honors went to Petaluma center Ross Goree, who had 26 points, 17 in the first half. Six foot-seven center Bill Secor fouled out for the Indians in the third quarter.

Austrian Takes Giant Slalom

ABELBODEN, Switzerland (AP) — Karl Schranz sped to victory in the giant slalom, giving Austria its first Alpine ski triumph of the young season today in World Cup competition.

Daugherty Takes The Blame

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — North Coach Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State blamed himself for a third-quarter gamble that failed and then accused officials of a bad call that cost his heavily favored team the winning touchdown in the second American Bowl football game Saturday.

The South wiped out a 14-point Yankee lead in the second half after North quarterback Gary Baxter of the Air Force fumbled the center snap on a fourth down and one at the North 26.

27-YARDER

Two plays later the Southerners scored on a 27-yard pass from Bill Cappleman of Florida State to Dennis Hughes of Georgia and changed the momentum of the game.

The Rebels eventually won 24-23 before a crowd of only 17,000 that braved light rain and chilly temperatures.

The South bolted in front with only 4:20 left on Cappleman's 48-yard scoring toss to Louisiana State's Eddie Ray, who tightroped the sidelines the final 30 yards.

It was a later play, with about two minutes remaining, that brought Daugherty's charge of a bad call.

FALLING CATCH

It came on a second down at the South four where San Diego State's Dennis Shaw dumped a pass to Jim McFarland of Nebraska, who made a falling catch at the back of the end zone.

Daugherty claimed McFarland landed on a one-yard strip of grass surrounding a chalked design in the end zone. The official ruled he caught the ball out of bounds.

"I'm not criticizing the officiating, but this is the weirdest end zone marking I've ever seen and I'm sure the game films will show McFarland scored."

South Coach Charles McClenden of LSU said he didn't see where McFarland came down, "but the referee was only a few feet away. It's a judgment call and that's what referees are for."

BRUINS IN ANOTHER ROMP

Pacific-8 Cagers To Open Loop Play

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The UCLA Bruins, undefeated after eight nonconference games, start defense of their Pacific-8 basketball title Friday night at home against Oregon.

Southern California entertains Oregon State in the only other Friday night game. All teams will be in conference play Saturday with Oregon State at UCLA, Oregon at USC, California at Washington State, and Stanford at Washington.

The Bruins, ranked No. 2 behind Kentucky last week, ran away from 13th-rated Notre Dame, 108-77, Saturday night before a national television audience.

USC froze the ball against Florida State to protect a 71-68 victory. It was USC's eighth win in 11 games.

California lost to the University of San Francisco, 69-67, when Pete Cross netted a 25-foot jump shot at the final buzzer. Only 11 seconds before, Cal had tied the game.

Washington State downed Gonzaga, 73-66 Saturday, and the Washington Huskies won 84-70 over Yale. George Irvine scored 31 points for Washington.

Santa Clara dumped Hayward State, 98-63.

In Pacific Coast Athletic Association action this Friday, Long Beach State meets San Diego State, Los Angeles State plays at San Jose State and UC Santa Barbara will be at Fresno State.

Race Tracks Remain Shut Down

ARCADIA (AP) — The strike that prevented opening of Santa Anita Park's thoroughbred race meeting here and a harness meeting at Bay Meadows near San Francisco continues as the first full week of 1970 began.

The tracks were to have opened Dec. 26.

Pickets continued their vigil around the two tracks yesterday.

A bargaining session between the AFL-CIO Service Employees International Union and the Federation of California Racing Associations failed to materialize Friday. Then the California Horse Racing Board stepped in —sort of.

Robert Fluor, president of that body, said he had asked representatives of both sides to be on hand today for a meeting, but neither side promised to show up.

The union had asked for a $4-a-day increase for parimutual employees. Management offered a $2-a-day increase. Top scale for employees was about $40 a day.

Two Drag Racers, Fan Injured In Explosions

IRVINE (AP) — Two drag racers and a spectator were injured when the superhigh-horsepower engines of two cars exploded in separate races yesterday at Orange County International Raceway.

Ed Carter of Newark, Calif., and Arnie Behling of Chicago were burned around their necks when their "funny car" engines blew. The leg of an unidentified fan was gashed by a flying part from Behling's car.

SPORTS SHORTS

Schembechler Ready To Leave Hospital

PASADENA (AP) — Barring complications, University of Michigan coach Bo Schembechler will be ready to check out of St. Luke Hospital's coronary care unit by tonight, physicians say.

Schembechler was hospitalized with a heart attack just two hours before his team met — and was defeated by —the University of Southern California in the New Year's Day Rose Bowl.

His physician, Dr. H. J. Weinsten, reported Schembechler spent a quiet Sunday watching the National Football League championship game on television and receiving USC coach John McKay as a visitor.

Football

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah — The University of Texas was named to receive the Grantland Rice Award given by the Football Writers Association of America to the outstanding collegiate football team.

Golf

MISSION VIEJO, Calif. — Richard Martinez of Laguna Beach, Calif., shot a two-over-par 73 and won the $52,000 Southern California Open golf tournament with a 54-hole total of 214.

Tennis

PERTH, Australia — Allan Stone of Australia beat countryman Phil Dent 6-3, 6-3, 9-7, in the West Australian Lawn Tennis Championships.

BRISBANE, Australia — Australia's John Newcombe defeated Niki Pilic of Yugoslavia 6-2, 6-3 and Tony Roche, also of Australia, beat Tom Okker of Holland 6-4, 6-1 in first round of the $10,000 Round-Robin tournament against European players.

Baseball

BOSTON — American League President Joseph E. Cronin was named as the recipient of the 12th annual Judge Emil Fuchs Award for outstanding contributions to baseball.

WASHINGTON — The Washington Senators announced the signing of catcher John Roseboro, who became a free agent after being released by the Minnesota Twins after the 1969 season.

Lucas Is Back In Good Shape, Without A Cast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Jerry Lucas, who lost a month's play because of a broken hand bone, appears to be back in shape as his San Francisco Warriors prepared for tonight's 8 o'clock game against the Detroit Pistons in Civic Auditorium.

Lucas, a forward, hauled down 12 rebounds and threw in 12 points Saturday as the Warriors dumped the Chicago Bulls 116-102. It was the first time he had played without a cast or protective bandage.

The Warriors have a 19-21 record in the National Basketball Association's West division.

The Pistons, who defeated Seattle by 116-110 on Sunday, have a 14-27 record in the East division.

LECTURE

Can a prudent investor find attractive re-investment opportunities at 9% OR MORE?

These days, he can. And this Dean Witter & Co. seminar is designed to tell you how.

Today's unprecedented bond market may be the answer. It's quite possible you never thought of yourself as a bond buyer. Yet there's a good chance that bonds are what your money has been buying—indirectly—through your savings deposits and your insurance premiums.

Today, with yields on excellent-grade corporate bonds in the range of 9%, many investors are becoming direct bond buyers. One attraction has been the assurance that today's high bond yields will be theirs to enjoy for five years or more. (Technically this is known as "call protection".)

Would you like to find out more about bonds and how they may fit your own investment objectives? If so, we invite you to attend our free seminar, "Do Bonds Belong in Your 1970 Investment Portfolio?" You can look forward to an in-depth discussion of current opportunities in corporate bonds. We will also have comments on U.S. government bonds and municipal bonds, long a favorite of many individual investors, and now offering historically high yields in the range of 7%, federal income tax free.

Don't miss this timely opportunity.

Date: Thursday, January 8
Time: 7:30 p.m.
Place: In our office at 1299 Fourth Street

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Portfolio Management Is Boon To A Businessman

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. When a person's associates are not part of the financial community and his portfolio justifies professional management, how does he go about finding and judging a successful company? — R. B.

A. Investment counseling as a profession has come of age but many firms handle only institutional or very large private accounts. Brokerage houses give out an ever-increasing volume of advice to their clients and many — for a fee — supervise the portfolios of individual customers. Although your question seems to imply that your brokerage firm does not offer this service, it probably handles transactions for professionally managed accounts and from this experience could perhaps offer some suggestions.

Since confidence and integrity are involved when money is at stake, you might list the people you know whose judgment you would trust and whose integrity you would never doubt. What about your lawyer, doctor or dentist?

As a group, professional men are so busy with their own work that they frequently put their investments into the hands of trained counselors. The finance officer in a local business firm might know where to direct you.

You could also follow the advertising in the financial press for possible leads. I think a firm close enough to afford the opportunity for personal conference is desirable. You should look for a company established long enough to have had experience in sustained bear markets as well as bull markets.

A review of their results should prove helpful in forming your opinion.

Drop In Profit

SEATTLE (BW) — VWR United Corp. has announced after-tax earnings for the nine months ended Nov. 30 were $2,046,000, or 89 cents per share, on sales of $153,907,000. This compares with after-tax earnings of $2,169,443, or 94 cents per share, on sales of $149,564,000 for the same period in 1968.

A Hold Forecast In Rising Prices

NEW YORK (UPI) — There is a good chance the United States may be able to slow rising prices in 1970 and hold pay hikes to the 1969 average, Fortune Magazine has said in its semiannual forecast for the next 18 months.

Consumer spending will increase by 4 per cent in 1970 and the pace will rise to an annual rate of more than 5 per cent early in 1971, the magazine said.

Looking beyond the 18-month period, Fortune said there will be high employment and moderate inflation in time for the 1972 presidential election, a condition it called "an incumbent politician's dream."

Fortune said defense outlays dropped 9 per cent in the past 18 months and will drop another 15 per cent in the next 18 months, making a total drop of $20 billion in the three-year period.

Stocks On Strong Side At Closing

NEW YORK (UPI)—Carryover demand from late last week enabled stocks to finish strong today in brisk turnover.

"There were no new factors of any great importance," one analyst commented, "but Wall Street seemed to be hoping for a change in Washington's tight monetary policy."

Another view was that the market's good health reflected the letup of tax selling which weighed on the list last month.

Volume of around 11 million shares was well ahead of Friday's pace.

American Telephone attracted demand following favorable mention in a financial publication and closed up 1 1-4 at 50 5-8.

In addition, AT&T's Western Electric manufacturing arm last week was awarded a multimillion-dollar Army contract for radar for the Safeguard anti-ballistic missile system.

Rails generally pointed higher with Southern Pacific gaining 1 1-4 to 34 1-2 at the close. Rail freight traffic set a record last year. One analyst noted that this group recently was a major victim of tax-selling.

Aircrafts were mostly higher, while electronics swung widely in both directions. Steels, motors, chemicals, and conglomerates generally traded in narrowly irregular fashion.

Chemicals, airlines and gold mining shares also followed mixed paths, but copper and stocks involved in pollution showed scattered strength. President Nixon pledged a stiff fight against pollution.

Among the most active stocks in late trading were Sperry Rand, up about 1 7-8; Motorola, down 1 7-8; Victory Comptometer, down 5-8; Pan American World Airways, 5-8 higher; Vornado, up 3-4; Occidental Petroleum, 1-8 higher.

Prices climbed on the American Stock Exchange in moderate active trading.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Marin Bay Lincoln-Mercury Will Get Into Auto Showroom

Gordon Jaques

Construction should start sometime this month on new automobile showrooms for Marin Bay Lincoln-Mercury in San Rafael.

Hercules Viglienzone has over two acres at 475 Francisco Boulevard and will have builder Al Villa construct a 22,000-square-foot facility which will give him more than twice the space he has now at Third Street and Lincoln Avenue. Walter Hansen of Tiburon is the architect.

Viglienzone is hoping for completion sometime in May.

HERBERT LUCAS has moved his Credit Motors used car business from his two locations at 1532 and 1826 Fourth Street to what he calls "top of auto row" at 626 Grand Avenue, San Rafael. The new location, between Second Street and Francisco Boulevard, was formerly occupied by The James Boys used car business.

Now associated with Lucas is Harold Magee of San Francisco, who has been dealing in automobiles for 15 years — eight of them in Marin County. He plans on moving his home to this side of the bay.

THERE HAS BEEN a merger of the Stuart D. Burt Insurance Agency of Corte Madera into the Redwood Empire Insurance Agencies of San Rafael.

Stuart Burt, who has operated his own agency in Marin since 1954, becomes a vice president of Redwood. He is past president of the Independent Insurance Agents Association of Marin and is current co-chairman of the membership committee for the state association.

A RECENT SALE of Northern Marin Plumbing in Woodacre has been made by Ambrose Ferrario to Marvin Dodson of San Anselmo. Dobson has been with the company for the past 12 years.

HERBERT S. GORDON, a new resident of Novato, has been appointed regional manager for Crosman Arms Co., Inc. of Fairport, N. Y., covering Northern California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Wyoming and Montana. He has been with Crosman as representative for the Chicago territory since 1963.

ROBERT K. JAQUES of Tiburon, vice president of the Bank of California in San Francisco, has been named western regional membership development chairman for the Bank Public Relations and Marketing Association.

THOMAS T. BEGUN of San Rafael has been appointed Northern California sales manager for Pacific Food Specialties Corp. Before joining the company he was a sales representative for a Chicago food distributor.

REAL ESTATE: Fred Enemark of Marin County Savings and Loan Association, San Rafael, will give his tradition first-of-the-year and usually accurate predictions in "The Money Story for 1970" at tomorrow's breakfast meeting of the Marin County Real Estate Board at the Corte Madera Lion's Club . . . New on the staff of Kay Noah and Associates, Tiburon, is Miss Alice Vowell. She was formerly with Donald Geddes and before that an executive in the sales and marketing division of Western Union.

FORD MOTOR CO. will feature a "Ford Performance Day" at the Sears Point International Raceway at the junction of Highways 37 and 121 in Southern Sonoma County next Friday afternoon, with exhibitions by the Ford Drag Team, Ed Terry and Dick Wood.

PICTURE MIXUP: The photographs of Clarence M. Stratton and B. D. Schulz were reversed in our column of Dec. 31.

A Big December

CHICAGO (BW) — Montgomery Ward has reported a 7.8 per cent increase in estimated December sales to set records for the month, and the first 11 months of the fiscal year. Sales for the four-week period of Nov. 29 through Dec. 27 were a record $273,216,000, compared with $252,372,000 for the comparable period last year.
